The War Today

By GUY RHOADES

WORRIED

The Royal Air Force and the German air force bombed each other's countries today in long-sustained raids while the Axis powers worried over a Balkan flame at any moment.

Italy and Germany, frantically trying to keep the groceryman coming to their back doors, sent respectively Count Ciano and von Ribbentrop to meet in Vienna with representatives of Rumania and Hungary in an effort to scotch troubles arising from Hungary's territorial claims to Transylvania which Rumania decided to reject.

DANGER

The Balkan situation held two major dangers to the Axis partners—danger the great supply of food and other raw materials at their backs might be cut off if Rumania and Hungary went to war and danger that Russia might step in.

Joseph Stalin's forces already are reported to have suffered casualties in savage clashes with Rumanian forces on the Bessarabian border and a conference is underway to compose the situation.

These two developments within the last few days gave a shaky appearance to obviously frantic German efforts to end the war with Britain before the long, hard European winter hampers operations with foggy air, hard frosts and high seas.

On the other hand there appeared to be increasingly hard feeling on the part of France's Petain government toward Britain. Its latest manifestation came when the French African colony of Chad decided to stay in the war and fight with Britain. The Petain administration promptly complained that Britain was inciting French colonies to revolt.

INFERIOR

London experienced its most prolonged air raid of the war with a period between the first alarm and the all-clear of more than seven hours. German raiders dropped more incendiary bombs than anything else and experts who examined extinguished specimens reported they were of inferior construction, composed largely of pitch.

Such incendiaries are readily extinguished by anyone with a bucket of water and are not the formidable weapon British inhabitants were taught to combat before the war started.

In those days courses were held by A.R.P. and householders were urged not to tackle incendiary bombs with water lest they contain pills of sodium that would release the hydrogen from the water and make the fire worse. They were told to keep small bins of sand in their houses and tackle the bombs with tongs and shovels after the fire had been extinguished by smothering.

ASTONISHING

Numerous firms advertised fancy anti-incendiary devices and The Times one morning published an article entitled "How to Deal With an Incendiary Bomb in the Drawing-room." The number of persons who could write learnedly about anti-incendiary was astonishing.

Anti-climatic, however, was today's revelation that the bombs which everyone had been taught to dread and fear were nothing more than balls of waste impregnated with cheap inflammable matter.

They appeared to be the same type of bomb used in the conquest of the low countries, slow burning and smoky.

CRUEL

More serious and more cruel to Britons was the problem of the delayed-action bomb which might detonate a few hours or even days after being dropped in an obscure spot. This weapon—only a device to menace civilian life when used from the air against open towns—is considered in Britain to be about the world's low in warfare.

Norwegians Condemned

OSLO, German-occupied Norway (via Berlin) (AP)—Three Norwegians were sentenced to death by a German military court here today on charges of espionage.

They are Col. Ole Gabriel Lund, a physician, and a young businessman named Rindstad—all from Bergen, one of Norway's most important harbors facing Britain. A fourth defendant was sentenced to five years of penal servitude and two others were acquitted.

Rocket Will Chase Planes, He Says

In his left hand veteran inventor J. Robert Fish of Springfield, Mass., displays his new rocket bomb, which, he says, will chase a plane and destroy it. Sound-sensitive, the projectile is designed to pick up the roar of motors and automatically race after the plane at about 900 miles per hour. Fish expects an official test off the New England coast soon.

Final Bulletins

3 NAZIS BAGGED IN NIGHT RAID

A SOUTHEAST COAST TOWN, England (CP)—A wedge of German Messerschmitt fighters swooped from 20,000 feet on barrage balloons at the edge of this town tonight, their aerial cannon belching, but met their match from defending Spitfires and Hurricanes of the coastal defence.

Raiders and defenders spiraled in a series of high dogfights, and within a few minutes the first plane hurtled to earth a few miles inland.

When two others spun out of the mass. One fell like a stone, and when it crashed the explosion of its gasoline tank could be heard for miles.

An R.A.F. pilot bailed out from the other. He fell in the sea a few yards from shore and was rescued by a naval torpedo boat.

Earlier in the evening the Air Ministry had reported nine enemy planes destroyed during the day.

To Supply Engines

WASHINGTON (AP)—An agreement was reached between the United States navy and the United Aircraft Corporation today for the manufacture of 17,000 airplane engines for both the army and navy at a cost of $160,000,000.

'Salvation Corps'

TOKYO—The newspaper Asahi reported today the Japanese Salvation Army had decided to sever all connections with the London organization, changing its name to the Salvation Corps.

The reported action followed what foreign clergymen termed a growing campaign in Japan to eliminate foreign financial aid and direction from Christian religious institutions.

Rain Halts Search For Escaped Nazis

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Heavy rains today forced guards and police to pause in the search for two German prisoners of war who escaped from a nearby internment camp Tuesday night.

Two police dogs, brought here by plane from Ottawa and reported following a keen scent last night, were brought back from the bush to headquarters shortly after the rain started. The downpour is expected to wash out any trace of the prisoners, Theodor Steyrer, 29, a noncommissioned officer of the German navy, and Hans Kibart, 25, an aviator, and make the dogs virtually useless in further hunting for the men.

Dozens of long disused, abandoned logging camps have been searched by police in the belief that the Germans may have sought shelter in one of them. Veterans' bushmen predicted hunger soon would drive the latest escapees to surrender, providing they did not receive outside aid, or were not caught within a short time.

Planes Over London

LONDON (CP)—German bombers returned to the London area tonight for the sixth consecutive night.

Berlin Station Hit

NEW YORK (AP)—A French language broadcast by the British Broadcasting Corporation, picked up by the National Broadcasting Company, said this evening that British air raiders last night scored a direct hit on the important Goerlitz Railway Station in Berlin. The station was reported fired and severely damaged.

Thanksgiving Oct. 14

OTTAWA (CP)—Thanksgiving Day this year has been fixed for October 14, the second Monday in that month, the Department of the Secretary of State announced this afternoon. A proclamation appointing that day as a day of general thanksgiving will be issued shortly.

Nanosee Logging

VANCOUVER (CP)—Officials of the Canadian Robert Dollar Company announced here today the firm will immediately begin extensive logging operations out of Nanosee, Vancouver Island, for its mill at Dollarton, Burrard Inlet, with estimated employment of 200 men.

Revive Luxembourg

LONDON (CP)—Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg arrived this evening from Lisbon, Portugal, in a British overseas flying boat to attempt to reorganize her government here. Luxembourg was occupied by Germany May 10.

Nonregistrants Jailed

WINNIPEG (CP)—Nick Boyko and Pearl Propenko, who said they believed only in God's law, were sentenced in police court here today to jail terms of two months and one month, respectively, when found guilty of failing to register. David Trizwell was sentenced to two months in jail when convicted on the same charge.

May Sign Treaty

MONTREAL (C.)—Mexico is seeking a trade treaty with Canada, Rafael Nieto, Mexican consul-general in Canada, announced here today.

The balance of trade at present is greatly in Canada's favor, said Nieto, "but we hope to take up the matter with Ottawa and have a treaty working in 1941."

Nazis Profess Ignorance

BERLIN (AP)—William Wack, charge d'affaires for Eire, called at the Foreign Office today to seek clarification of the incident of Monday in which a German plane bombed an Irish town, killing three girls.

Authorized sources said German authorities replied they had no information a German plane was involved, but promised to continue investigation.

Draft Up to 44 Proposed for U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives military committee approved today a Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill calling for drafting of men from 21 to 44 years of age, inclusive—a much wider range than that provided in the bill which the Senate passed on a 55-to-31 vote last night.

The House committee acted quickly after Senate passage so that its version of the legislation might be brought to the floor Tuesday for possible final House passage late next week.

The House committee vote approving the bill was 17 to 4, with four committeemen absent. The committee "decisively defeated" a proposal to make the age brackets conform to the Senate figures of 21 through 30.

Supporters said the War Department has long been ready with specific plans for putting the measure in operation.

490,837 SINGLE IN HALF CANADA

OTTAWA (CP)—In 131 constituencies tabulated out of the total of 243 in Canada, there are 490,837 single men between the ages of 19 and 45, the War Services Department announced this afternoon.

These constituencies reported 38,741 single men in the 21-year-old class, expected to be called first for military training.

The first draft for the 30-day compulsory training period will probably be 30,000.

Nazis Chased to Sea R.A.F. Foils Raid on London

LONDON (CP)—Nearly 200 German planes were turned back from London late today by British fighter forces and fled to sea in the southeast without dropping any bombs.

This was the high spot in widespread daylight forays with which the Germans followed up their largest night attack of the war. Throughout last night incendiary and high explosive bombs were dropped in many parts of England and Wales.

British Counter With Heavy Blows

More than matching the wide-ranging German attacks, the Air Ministry announced "extensive raids on military objectives in Germany, Holland and enemy-occupied France" last night. The ministry said that "several important targets in the Berlin area were heavily bombed." All the British planes returned. Two made forced landings, but their crews are safe.

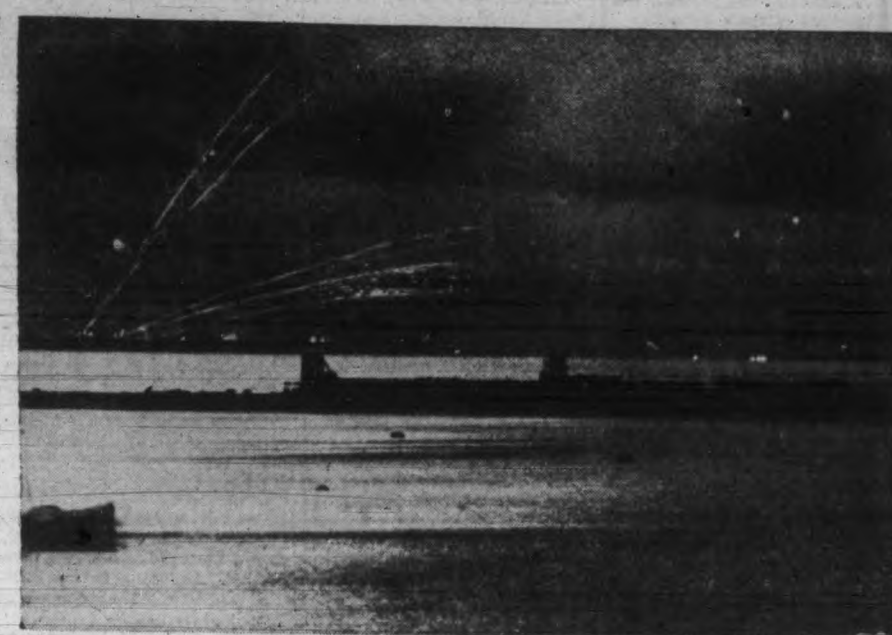

The renewal of German raids on England came in the southeast this afternoon, before the 200-plane attack was attempted, and a little later raiders were reported over two Welsh towns.

The first report of daylight activity today came from an inland town and said merely that German planes had appeared.

Three southeast coast towns reported fighting Nazi planes during the afternoon.

Post Damaged But Doctors Work was damaged, but nurses and doctors continued to treat minor injury and shock cases there though severely shaken themselves.

In a Midland town bombs fell on a greyhound racetrack, damaging the club and knocking out the totalisator.

A survey of the London area showed that 13 districts were attacked in last night's raids.

Nazi Confetti Not Fooling R.A.F.

German bomber crews now throw confetti at British fighter planes as an escape tactic, British airmen reported today.

When a fighter gets on the bomber's tail, the Britons said, the Germans empty confetti into the slipstream of their propellers, hoping to blind the pursuer.

One pilot said the British pilots pay no attention to the new defence and added:

"If they want to turn the blitzkrieg into a paper chase, it's O.K."

CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE STARTS IN INDIA

BOMBAY (CP)—First move of a new civil disobedience campaign against Britain for declining to grant India immediate independence was begun today at Cawnpore, home of the Indian nationalist leader, Jawaharlal Nehru.

Defying the government's ban against organized drill by volunteer societies, volunteers of the All-India Congress, which Nehru heads, decided to offer themselves for arrest in groups.

Eleven congress volunteers drill daily in Cawnpore Shradhanand Park.

Churchill Obeys

LONDON (CP)—A provincial mayor gave orders to Prime Minister Churchill in an air raid on the Kent coast yesterday.

As the Premier entered an underground shelter, puffing a cigar, Mayor A. B. C. Kempe of Ramsgate said: "Put out that cigar, Mr. Churchill!"

The Prime Minister dropped the forbidden stogie on the sand-filled floor. "There goes a good 'un," he said.

Commodore Brodeur Leaves Tomorrow

Commodore Victor G. Brodeur, who will leave tomorrow to take over his new post as naval attaché to the Canadian legation at Washington, paid a farewell call on Mayor McGavin at the City Hall this morning.

Commodore Brodeur was accompanied by Commander F. G. Hart, naval staff officer. Bidding farewell to Commodore Brodeur were also Aldermen W. L. Morgan, T. W. C. Hawkins, J. Worthington and W. H. Davies.

Holding Down Dutch

AMSTERDAM (AP)—Arthur Seyss-Inquart, German commissioner for the occupied Netherlands, decreed today property seizure and other severe punishments for patriotic Netherlands who demonstrate in any fashion for the House of Orange on Queen Wilhelmina's 6th birthday anniversary Saturday.

The Queen is in London, where the Netherlands government operates in exile.

FRENCH CONGO JOINS BRITAIN

LONDON (CP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle announced tonight the French Cameroons and Congo had followed the Chad territory in declaring for support of Britain in the war with Germany.

Gen. de Gaulle is leader of French forces who are organizing to fight on at Britain's side, refusing to recognize the armistice made by the French government of Philippe Petain.

His headquarters pointed out the Cameroons and the Congo territory, together with the Chad region, which a couple of days ago declared for continued war on Germany, constitute nearly the whole of French equatorial Africa.

French sources here expressed the opinion that this development might vitally influence the outcome of the war in Africa.

They pointed out, on a big African map in Gen. de Gaulle's headquarters, that the vast expanses of that continent now joined with Britain constitute a link between the Atlantic and Mediterranean and Red seas, and suggested their new status as belligerents would sharply curtail the freedom of Italian and German naval and air movements.

(In Vichy, France, today the Petain-Laval government "dismissed" the governors of three French colonial possessions—the Chad region and the Cameroons in Africa and New Caledonia in the southern Pacific.)

Lawyer Criticized

TORONTO (CP)—Hon. Gordon Conant, Attorney-General of Ontario, issued instructions today that A. J. De Diana, Sudbury lawyer, who acted as crown attorney in the conviction of R. T. Stevens, Sudbury theatre owner, under Defence of Canada Regulations, must not handle any more crown cases.

The Attorney-General said he had been informed De Diana did not bring out all the evidence against Stevens and agreed to the withdrawal of a second charge. Stevens was fined $25 in jail for making subversive statements.

Registration Guide

OTTAWA (CP)—For the guidance of authorities the National War Services Department will soon issue a booklet containing a complete and up-to-date compilation of the regulations governing registration.

Blast Kills 2 At Petawawa

PETAUAWA, Ont. (CP)—Two were killed and eight wounded, three seriously, by the premature explosion of a shell at firing practice at Petawawa Camp early today.

2nd-Lieut. A. R. Millard of Montreal was killed instantly and Gunner Paul Beland, EI089, died on the way to the hospital.

Seriously wounded were Gunner J. P. McMillan, EI117; Sgt. J. R. Donnell, D8014, and Bombardier A. R. E. Gardiner, D8166.

Five others were not so seriously wounded: Gunner S. Brown, D8005; Gunner James Mallay, D8225; Gunner H. Moreau, EI082; Gunner J. O'Dowd, EI075, and Gunner L. Cossman, D8090.

Gunners Moreau and O'Dowd were transferred to the Pembroke hospital.

In addition, Lieut. C. H. Drury, suffered slight scratches on the face.

The accident was the first major mishap in the Canadian Active Service Force in Canada. A gun crew was in action on the ranges early today when a round was fired from a field gun. The shell exploded at the muzzle of the gun, killing the artillery officer instantly and wounding others.

The field ambulance on duty rushed the victims to the camp hospital, but Gunner Beland succumbed in the ambulance. Medical officers gave immediate aid to the other wounded.

(At Ottawa Defence Minister Ralston at once ordered a court of inquiry and sent his executive assistant, Col. A. A. Magee, to Petawawa with an ordnance inspector to make a thorough investigation and report on the accident.)

The camp is 110 miles west of Ottawa.

Artillery officers said records of the last war showed such accidents, where a shell exploded as it left the muzzle of a gun, were extremely rare, perhaps one in 1,000,000 rounds fired.

Until the experts had studied the gun, no information could be obtained as to the cause of the explosion today.

Teacher Too Talkative

CHESTERFIELD, Eng. (CP)—Barnet Kay, a schoolmaster, was fined £30 ($133) here today for saying the Germans would smash Britain and that Canada would go to the United States, to which country, he asserted, "she rightfully belongs."

7-Hour Raid on London

Liverpool, Cardiff, Bristol Among 20 Bomber Targets

LONDON (CP)—German raiders dropped thousands of incendiary and high explosive bombs all over England and Wales last night and early today in the most widespread and intensive night attack on Britain since the beginning of the war.

Civilians were killed in all of some 20-odd areas which were hardest hit. Reports from around the country spoke of hundreds of bombs being dropped, of 20 bombs dropped in quick succession, and of 50 bombs dropped quickly.

(In Berlin, the German high command today said: "Fighting plane units yesterday effectively attacked airports at Eastchurch and Southend, on the Thames mouth, as well as the port of Bognor Regis, on the English south coast.

"During the night an increased quantity of bombs was dropped on port facilities of Liverpool, Cardiff, Bristol, Middlesbrough, Chatham and Thameshaven, as well as on armament plants at Sheffield, Norwich and Coventry. The mining of British ports from the air continued."

The Nazi bombers staged the longest sustained attack of the war in London itself, lighting the night sky at times to a daylight brilliance with their fire warfare and blasting their high explosive bombs in many sections of the capital's ring of outskirts in a seven-hour attack which lasted practically from darkness to dawn.

Planes Came Singly And in Groups

Some sections of the country were attacked by single planes while others apparently were raided by successive waves of 18 and 20 bombers.

In the London area, where the raiders seemed to mean business—this was no mere "nuisance raid"—bombs were dropped both by single planes and by small waves of planes.

Fires were started in several London suburbs as well as in towns of southeast, southwest and northeast England, and in the Midlands and Wales. All were reported controlled before large damage resulted.

In one London district, more than 60 incendiary bombs fell, but 1,800 civil defence workers on duty smothered them before they could do any damage. In the same district, explosive bombs dropped at the same time damaged houses along two streets.

Trains on One line Suspended

The London and Northeastern Railway suspended train service from London to one line and carried passengers by buses.

In another London section, three bombs were dropped simultaneously, one landing on top of a shelter and blowing it out of the ground, killing four members of one family who had taken refuge there.

In still another section of London, a fire started by an incendiary bomb almost completely burned a branch of the F. W. Woolworth Stores on the main road.

Less than a quarter of a mile away, high explosive bombs de-

ENGLISH HOMES SHATTERED AS NAZI PLANE FALLS.—"Somewhere in England" a German plane, completely out of control, crashes into two houses when driven down by British airmen. molished a number of workers' houses. On another street 100 yards away, several buildings were badly damaged. Police erected barricades, stopped all traffic and ordered residents to move.

The night shift in one London factory had taken to a shelter where an incendiary bomb hit the building. A fire brigade got the blaze under control before the main part of the building was damaged.

Delayed Bomb Explodes at Dawn

Some bombs dropped in the London area were of the delayed action type. One of these, which fell on open ground, exploded after daylight this morning. Sixty persons already had been removed from nearby houses.

One bomb fell on open ground in a popular London residential district. There was no damage and no casualties.

London was under alarm seven hours 10 minutes. The raiders first appeared not long after dark, and kept attacking the city, singly or in small groups, until just before dawn.

The London sky was brilliant during the raid, a combination of attack and defence weapons producing an unprecedented fireworks display. The raiders first dropped parachute flares and followed these with incendiary bombs.

The fires started by the bombs made deep glows visible for miles. The sky high above was pierced by hundreds of anti-aircraft searchlight beams as the capital's defenders employed the biggest battery yet used to ferret out the bombers.

Through all this brilliance there resounded the booms of exploding bombs—many could be heard

German Bombs Thrown at Random

The government accused the raiders of dropping bombs "at random" in the attack on London, while the wide use of incendiaries on London and throughout the country caused the Press Association to describe the raid as Germany's "most venomous attack of the war against Britain."

The ministries of air and home security in a joint communique said that in London "some damage was done to houses, shops and other buildings, including a church," and "some casualties were caused, including a small number of fatal injuries."

The communique, longer than those usually issued on night raids, listed damage done and persons killed throughout the country, although as usual exact casualty figures were not made public.

In a southwestern town, the water supply was crippled; homes and industrial property were damaged in a Midlands town and some persons were killed; industrial property, houses and other buildings were damaged in a number of towns in the northeast and northwest, and casualties, although not numerous, including some deaths.

Many Incendiary Bombs Dropped

In addition to these points, the government said that "elsewhere many incendiary bombs and some high explosive bombs were dropped," causing a small number of casualties, with "some" fatal.

The Press Association, in its account of the raids, said Hitler had sent "fire raiders to scatter their incendiaries indiscriminately in widespread areas."

"Bombing with high explosives was of a minor character," the news agency said, "but according to reports reaching the Press Association incendiaries were furiously showered on towns, villages and open heaths."

"In two towns, one on the southwest coast and the other in the Midlands, considerable damage was done, and there have been a number of casualties during the night."

"Apart from these two towns despite hundreds of incendiaries dropped, damage was extremely slight and certainly of no military importance. The civil defence were tested and came through brilliantly, stirrup pumps beating the incendiaries, and the raiders' fire bombs mission will go down as another of Hitler's failures."

"Over London day raiders maintained at intervals and flying single a seven-hour marathon high above the populace and put scattered incendiaries over the outer districts."

Yesterday's Bag 28 Nazi Planes

Just before last night's raids began the government announced the Royal Air Force had shot down 28 of yesterday's German daylight raiders while losing 34 planes themselves. Of the British hundreds of incendiary bombs, damaging residential property. Only two casualties were reported there, however—a woman and her son who were injured severely by a direct hit on their home.

Other bombers raided Wales several hours, dropping bombs on several towns and villages in South Wales. Heavy anti-aircraft fire apparently turned them from their main objectives. There was little damage there and only a few casualties reported.

Two persons were killed and several injured when a raider dived over a town in the Midlands and dropped five bombs, four of which fell in residential areas.

A poorhouse was damaged. Its inmates were moved elsewhere.

Women Killed When Farm Hit

An elderly woman was killed and two other women were injured severely when a high explosive bomb struck farm buildings near an isolated Midland village.

In one London suburban district, some hundred incendiary bombs and a dozen high explosive bombs were dropped over a two-square mile area, starting fires which damaged some houses considerably. No casualties were reported.

A north Midlands town was raided several hours. Houses were damaged. One person was killed.

In one Midlands city two streets of houses were wrecked by bombs early today. A small town was struck by 30 bombs and the police chief there said: "It's a miracle we escaped a heavy death toll. The town rocked with explosions."

German planes dropped many bombs over a wide area on Britain's west coast, causing numerous fires.

A number of casualties, including two dead, were reported from a northeast city, where about 30 bombs fell in an almost straight line across the town. Two delayed action bombs exploded later, causing further casualties. Most of the damage was done to workers' homes.

In another northeast city a young woman was killed and several other persons injured, two seriously, in a raid which lasted only two minutes. The attacking plane cut its motor, glided silently over the town, dropped three bombs and then flew out to sea.

BERLIN BY NIGHT WITH BRITISH BOMBERS OVERHEAD—Time-exposure picture taken of Nazi capital during blackout with searchlights trying to pick out R.A.F. planes buzzing aloft in night sky.

BY DAY—British bomber's-eye view showing most important part of Berlin, with some of the government buildings along the Wilhelmstrasse, which has received attention from the R.A.F.

LONDON (CP)—British bombers last night attacked "several important targets in the Berlin area" during "extensive raids" on military objectives in Germany, Holland and France, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

A large vessel lying in a canal near Rathenau, 25 miles west of Berlin, was directly hit and exploded, the ministry announced. "Other aircraft attacked the air-plant factory at Leipzig, the Junkers works at Dessau, oil plants at Reisholz, Dortmund and Nordenham, north of Bremen, and several enemy airdromes," said the communiqué.

Berliners Spend 3 Hours in Shelters

BERLIN (AP)—British bombers flew over the German capital for nearly three hours in a pre-dawn attack today, dropping explosives less than two miles from government offices in the Wilhelmstrasse.

While authorities claimed no military objectives of consequence were hit, army officers, firemen and police hastened to Kottbuser Street, in the southeastern part of the city, where the chief damage was done.

The officers took technical notes; the firemen fought flames started by incendiary bombs. Through arrangement with the propaganda ministry, three American newspapermen, including an Associated Press correspondent, were taken on a two-hour tour. Such places as the Tempelhof airdrome, the Klingenberg power plant, which supplies half of Berlin, and railway stations were undamaged. It was impossible, however, to cover all points of military importance on the trip.

10 Killed In One Street

In one block in crowded Kottbuser Street, where there were 10 dead, according to the Nazi count, about a dozen 100-pound high explosive bombs and a number of incendiaries fell.

Bombs dropped within 10 minutes of the first soundings of the alarm and the damage was done while many Berliners were en route to shelters.

Roof fires were reported in several parts of the city. None, however, was of the size of the fires in Kottbuser Street, the glow of which could be seen from the heart of the city. High explosives there dug two 10-foot craters, five feet deep.

Germans Admit Many Casualties

This morning's Nazi high command communiqué said:

"British planes last night intentionally attacked residential sections of the Reich's capital (Berlin). Incendiary bombs and explosives killed or injured numerous civilians and caused damage to several apartment houses, with attic fires."

British Bomb Norway Coast

LONDON (CP)—An Admiralty announcement today said: "Skua (dive bombers) aircraft of the fleet air arm carried out offensive operations over the Norwegian coast yesterday."

"At one oil depot which had been attacked previously by fleet air arm aircraft the two remaining tanks were bombed. Direct hits were made on both these tanks, the larger being set on fire. "A motor patrol vessel in a fjord was attacked and left burning. Off the coast a 2,000-ton supply ship was attacked and two direct hits were obtained. "All our aircraft returned safely."

Lodge Group Awaits After-death Tests

LONDON (CP)—Five secret tests left in a series of sealed envelopes by the late Sir Oliver Lodge in an effort to prove he could communicate after death with the living world have been disclosed to be things known to him alone.

A friend said Sir Oliver, scientist, inventor and spiritualist who died last Thursday, told him the test which he would try to communicate through mediums would include:

1. Some laughable childish idiosyncrasy.
2. A higher mathematical formula containing at least one mistake.
3. Names of two towns and a hamlet which had an important part in his career.
4. Cryptic quotations from verses of three of his favorite songs and the way one of these songs played a curious part in his life.
5. The name of a cliff near which he had a youthful adventure not known to anyone now living.

Sir Oliver left the series of sealed envelopes to the Society for Psychical Research with instructions they be opened one at a time at sittings to be held at stated intervals.

Archbishop Sick

MONTREAL (CP)—Monsignor George Gauthier, 68, Catholic Archbishop of Montreal, was in serious condition in hospital here today after he had suffered a paralytic stroke at his Cathedral Street palace.

"One of the attacking enemy planes was downed by anti-aircraft fire before reaching the city outskirts."

"The Leuna works also were a target of British attack. (Leuna, near Leipzig, is the site of large synthetic gasoline works.) Slight damage was caused. At several other localities in central and western Germany where bombs dropped the damage was likewise immaterial."

"Yesterday the enemy lost a total of 44 planes and one barrage balloon, while our own total losses were 15."

"A submarine commanded by Lt. Cmdr. Schepke sank seven armed enemy merchant ships totalling 43,000 tons. Five of these were shot from a strongly-protected convoy."

(These claims are unconfirmed.)

EMPIRE LEADS IN AIR TRAINING

LONDON (CP)—The British training system is superior to that of any other air force in the world and is definitely ahead of the Germans', Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham said in a London Rotary address.

"We have also something the Germans could not hope to imitate—an Empire in which to train, whereas there are few corners of Germany that we are not reaching today," Sir Robert added.

"The Empire Air Training Scheme is having more effect than merely producing pilots. It is forming an additional link of Empire."

He said the people of the Dominions had shown "extraordinary kindness in looking after pilots and airmen."

He suggested that after the war the development of the Northwest Territories of Canada by air may be the next phase in the Dominion's development. Sir Robert was recently in Canada in connection with the air training scheme.

CANADA RED CROSS NEEDS $5,000,000

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Red Cross Society will launch a nationwide appeal for $5,000,000 starting September 23, Norman Somerville, national chairman, announced.

"Almost all the $5,000,000 contributed during our campaign last November has been spent in meeting emergency calls on the Red Cross," Mr. Somerville said. With three emergency calls developing during the past week, including a request from the department of national defence to co-operate in the provision of eight convalescent hospitals in Canada, the Society is faced with new responsibilities, he said.

"At our next central meeting in Toronto next week, the executive will recommend that pursuant to the request from the department, the Canadian Red Cross should provide, equip and co-operate in the maintenance of eight convalescent hospitals in various parts of the country for soldiers invalided from overseas or at home.

An emergency call was cabled yesterday from the overseas commissioner in London, stating 100,000 refugees who have fled to England from invaded countries, as well as thousands of evacuated children in Britain, are in desperate need of clothing.

VISIT NEW SHIPS

LONDON (CP)—The King and Queen toured a northwest shipyard today and each drove rivets in the keel plates of a new warship with a hydraulic press.

They also boarded a new warship which was nearly ready to go on duty and met Frank Shaw, a survivor of the submarine Thetis, working on the docks. The Thetis was sunk accidentally June 1, 1939, with a loss of 99 lives.

The King and Queen arrived at the shipyard after spending the night in the Royal train at a disused siding at a remote Lancashire spot. Although bombs fell a few miles from the siding, there was no actual air raid warning and Their Majesties spent an undisturbed night.

The Queen was anxious to know whether damage had been done in the neighborhood and remarked, "I'm very glad to hear that," when advised that there had been none.

Has Russia the Ace?

IT IS WORTH REPEATING THAT IT IS unwise and even dangerous to dogmatize where Soviet policy is concerned. But one important fact should be noted in connection with the frantic attempts by Germany and Italy to prevent an outbreak of hostilities in the Balkans: Enigmatic Russia has not been thought of sufficient importance to warrant an invitation to sit in at the conference which took place in Vienna today. Herr Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano were as busy as bees in the old Austrian capital—the identical Von Ribbentrop who negotiated the famous pact between the Berlin and Moscow governments a little more than a year ago. It was that agreement which finally ended the long-drawn-out negotiations that Britain and France clumsily conducted in their efforts to enlist Russia in the anti-Hitler bloc.

No secret was made of the fact at the time that Stalin objected to dealing with "a clerk"—Mr. Strang—from the British Foreign Office, and he had not forgotten that the governments at Downing Street and the Quai d'Orsay ignored him when they put Czechoslovakia on the carving block at Munich less than a year before. Not that Russia's participation in those deliberations would have necessarily changed the course of history—although it might have done—but the fact remains that after Hitler had broken all the promises he had made, Mr. Stalin found himself in a position to play Berlin against London and Paris, at a time when Britain and France most needed his support. On September 3, 1939, he was not an avowed enemy of the Allies, nor was he even a useful nonbelligerent friend.

The view point we have in mind, therefore, is that Stalin's attitude toward the deliberations which are seriously exercising the minds of the axis partners may or may not be known before a real or temporary agreement between the Hungarian and Rumanian governments is reached. It has been reported, without confirmation, that King Carol's representatives have received a definite warning from Moscow that cession of any Transylvanian territory at Budapest's demand—supported by Hitler and Mussolini—will mean armed intervention by Russia, whose government, as in the case of Munich, is not represented at deliberations the result of which conceivably could lie within her power to change as she might think fit. Moscow thus is the unknown quantity.

What has caused, and will continue to cause, much fluttering in Berlin and Rome, of course, is the threat that unless Foreign Ministers von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano can produce the right formula to secure an amicable settlement of the Transylvanian dispute between Rumania and Hungary—apart altogether from the enigma which is Russia—Germany and Italy may soon find themselves seriously embarrassed, economically if not militarily, by fighting in an area from which both have been drawing much-needed supplies of food, oil, and other war materials. Upon such developments as may emerge, therefore, may depend the extent to which Stalin will feel disposed to apply his nuisance value, primarily, beyond all doubt, in his own interest. Rumania, in the meantime, is having trouble on both Russian and Hungarian borders.

Mr. McAdam's Status

TO OUR EXCHANGE TABLE YESTERDAY came a copy of the London Evening News—rightly claiming the "largest evening news sale in the world"—with the well-known and popular "Talk of the Day" section on the editorial page devoted to a "Canadian Night" at the Paris Cinema at the lower end of Regent Street. Here is the first part of the columnist's column and a half with its special reference to British Columbia and its active acting-agent-general in the metropolis:

"A large Canadian flag pinned up on the wall outside guided me last evening to the Paris Cinema in Lower Regent Street. "Nobody was selling tickets in the box office, but I breathe the name of Mr. W. A. McAdam, the acting-agent-general of British Columbia who lives opposite, and was admitted. "Tall, dark, and very likeable, Mr. McAdam cannot be known as Agent-General, I believe, because he is in British Columbia's civil service. But he is active as well as 'acting,' and immensely popular. "I found the theatre packed with Canadian officers, nurses, and men of the Sea-forts and 'Princess Pats' collected from their camps at the instance of Mr. McAdam."

On April 1, 1934, Mr. McAdam was gazetted as acting-agent-general. In that capacity, as we pointed out the other day, he has done a magnificent job of work, not only in the office at British Columbia House, but on those numerous official and semi-official occasions when it is both desirable and profitable for this province's interests to be ably represented. Now he is faced with the highly important and highly responsible task of dealing with a constant stream of potential residents who are considering life in British Columbia. Many of these people are, conceivably, are possessed of substantial means, who want to be quite sure that they will be making no mistake if they throw in their lot with us on this Pacific coast, and it is natural for them to ask for the Agent-General, not the acting-agent-general. But when they discover, as did the Evening News columnist, that Mr. McAdam for some technical departmental reason has not been confirmed in the premier position after six and a half years, they probably wonder whether he is really the man they ought to see.

We agree with the Vancouver Sun, which notes this aspect of Mr. McAdam's duties, that "the post of Agent-General becomes one of the most important in the gift of the provincial government." And, emphasizes our contemporary, "It is time the government made Mr. McAdam's appointment permanent and safeguarded his pension and other rights as a civil servant, after all these years of distinguished work for this province. No man in the public service of British Columbia deserves this security more."

Censorship

DURING HIS ADDRESS TO THE CANADIAN Authors' Association convention at St. Anne de Bellevue, Mr. Wilfrid Eggleston, joint press censor for the Dominion, said his department was anxious not to stifle legitimate criticism "even in wartime."

Of this there will be no complaint. But what we wish Mr. Eggleston would take under reconsideration with his colleague is the foolish decree which prohibits the mention of the place names—but not tell-tale pictures—at landings of naval craft, and the practice of trying to hoodwink the enemy by saying this or that ship docked at an eastern Canadian or western Canadian port on this or that day. In the Wilhelmstrasse in the Nazi capital, and in any small book-seller's shop in the Reich, are maps of Canada, voluminous data about seasonal conditions, where ships may and may not dock in the St. Lawrence, and when; similar information about Pacific coast ports likewise is available to all who can see and read. And we may be sure that every shipbuilding establishment along the coasts of the North American continent is carefully tabulated in more than one hive of infamy under the roof of Adolf Hitler's new chancellery.

We are not in the least seeking to minimize the responsibility with which Mr. Eggleston and his colleague are charged. But for the life of us we fail to see how the enemy can hope to profit by an announcement that a new ship has been launched at Victoria in August and that, in the ordinary course of events, she will ride the ocean wave and justify the money which the public has spent on her. Will Mr. Eggleston consider this "legitimate criticism" in wartime?

Must Be a Strain

EVIDENTLY OUR MORNING CONTEMPORARY is finding it a little difficult to assemble new material with which to add to its own dislike of Mr. Mackenzie King and his government. But it has captured a copy of Canadian Boating which gives a few impressions of how the Ottawa administration treats German prisoners in Canada. We are told, for example, that a ship's orchestra on a holiday boat at a popular summer resort near Toronto had been in the habit of playing patriotic airs for the edification of the internees, but that the government "has asked the owners of the steamer to cease annoying our dear prisoners."

We shall soon expect to find quoted from the official organ of the Underground Artillery, The Gopher, a scurrilous article condemning Minister of Justice Lapointe for singing a weekly solo in Gaelic at the camp in question—that is, if Hon. Scots Ian Mackenzie does not register a complaint before the offence has been committed. And, as we are approaching the first anniversary of the outbreak of the war, it would not be surprising if the Horse Marines' Annual were to forget itself and charge Mr. Mackenzie King and ex-member of Parliament Agnes MacPhail with executing a cake-walk act for the entertainment of Adolf's captive boys.

SHAMEFUL SITUATION

From Winnipeg Free Press
There is today in Canada a situation so shameful in all its respects, that attention must be called to it without delay. And that is the situation concerning certain Japanese imports into this country. In the following table comparisons are made over the nine-month period (January to September) of each of the past three years:

CANADIAN COTTON-GOODS IMPORTS

FROM JAPAN (in Pounds)
	1937	1938	1939
Grey Fabrics	9,622	931	235,566
Bleached Fabrics	17,085	4,904	327,522
Colored Fabrics	63,522	42,776	69,250
Velveteens	55,819	54,492	67,461
Wash Cloths, Bath Mats, etc.	79,025	33,824	73,558
Handkerchiefs	100,564	107,145	311,852
Quilts	1,336	4,680	18,625
Sheets and Pillow Cases	267	29,634	299,853
Towels	42,509	173,609	318,988

This shows that in every item listed but one (wash cloths, etc.) there have been increased imports since 1937; and in most instances the increases have been substantial. In grey and bleached fabrics, in sheets and pillow cases and towels, the increases have been phenomenal.

Of course, these increases have been at some one else's expense, for Canadians are not using in their homes the extra Japanese imports. And do you know who has been getting the short end of the cotton-goods bales? None other than Great Britain. Take the single item of cotton sheets and pillow cases, for illustrative purposes. The following figures show Japan's increases and Great Britain's decreases in pounds for the comparative nine-month periods:

	1937	1938	1939
Britain	228,042	150,219	121,815
Japan	267	29,634	299,853

The figures in that table speak for themselves in tones loud enough to make the average citizen squirm. And the fact that they are representative of many other articles only makes the situation that much more shameful.

MAKE-UP

THOSE INTERESTED in the deeper inward processes of democracy, which is now fighting for its life, with its back to the wall, should observe the current activities of Mr. Wendell Willkie. Mr. Willkie is a democrat among democrats, but that is not enough. Under the distorted and foolish rules of applied political democracy, Mr. Willkie must be improved upon, built up, made like a Hollywood star, garlanded and decorated and made to appear something that he is not, something worse than he is. The people demand it.

Observe this process closely, for it is almost universal in the democratic nations and certainly applies in Canada. What is the process, through which Mr. Willkie is now trying to smile? The process is an attempt to make the leader like the followers, and that is where it is completely wrong.

The whole power of stage management, of photography, of blurb-writing, of ballyhoo and bunk is concentrated now on the task of proving that Mr. Willkie is just like every other American, the typical American, the apotheosis of the American system, the perfect mirror of the American mind—just another guy like the guy next door. That's what's wrong with democratic politics in the United States and Canada.

For, of course, the United States needs and Canada needs a leader who is not the typical American or Canadian, but something entirely different. God save us from the leadership of the typical American or Canadian. God save us from guys like the guy next door. God save us from fellows like you and me.

NOT OUR SORT

CLEARLY WHAT WE need at a time like this, when our system is struggling against a clever, unscrupulous and ravenous enemy, is the leadership of the most brilliant men we can get; not typical men, not average men, not men like you and me.

Whenever democracy has won a battle in war or peace it has not been under the leadership of a typical or average man, but under a man quite unlike his fellows. Washington, the Father of His Country, was an aristocrat to the fingertips, a slave owner, a man who hated democracy even as he saved and founded it in America. If he had been alive today they would have been taking pictures of him hugging Hedy Lemarr and wearing a 10-gallon hat to catch the cowboy vote and overalls to please the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Lincoln came out of the people, but he was no average man either, no typical American. How many other Lincolns have there ever been? Lincoln is called the typical American only because everybody would like to be like him and nobody ever is.

And if Franklin Roosevelt is a typical American, then the typical American family has a million dollars, a country estate and a Harvard accent.

ON OUR SIDE

IT IS THE SAME on this side of the line. Our great leaders have never been typical Canadians. Macdonald was a Scot of easy-going disposition who could never have survived the kind of life most Canadians lived. Laurier was a delicate scholar whose fine hands had never touched the real stuff of Canadian life. And can you imagine Mr. Bennett any closer to the real life of the west than the Calgary Stampede in a cut-away coat? Can you picture Mr. King in the saddle, at the plough, the pneumatic drill, the cross-cut saw or the lathe, which are the tools of the typical Canadian?

Yet democracy demands that its leaders be like it, where it should insist that they be entirely different. Why, they must even prove that the sleepy town of Elwood, Indiana, where Mr. Willkie was brought up, is the typical town of America. Here, they say, is the real strength of American life, here the beauty, the peace, the neighborliness of the typical American community. Whereas it is perfectly plain that the typical American town is a very bad imitation of New York, which in its turn is a very bad imitation of civilization. Just as the average American home is a very bad imitation of a movie set or a picture in the Ladies' Home Journal.

NOSTALGIA

IT IS A KIND of sugar-sweet nostalgia, I suppose. The American people look back with longing to the day when American civilization was centred in such sleepy towns as Elwood, and folks sat on their porch in the evening instead of driving to the movies or the country club for cocktails, and politics was a simple business, an innocent sport. Alas, Elwood has gone and would have been forgotten if it weren't for the accident of Mr. Willkie's nomination. The horse and buggy is gone, but horse-and-buggy politics, horse-and-buggy economics still jog along because we want them that way. We want to feel, in fact, that our leaders are no better than we are. We won't allow them to give themselves airs. We want them made in our great image and likeness. We overlook their virtues and worship their mediocrity. Who do they think they are, anyway?

So we photograph them in the home town, on the cottage veranda, at the village strawberry festival, the Calgary Stampede, when we should be kicking them out of office as soon as they show the least resemblance to us. What we need are freaks as leaders if we are going to survive—freaks of outstanding capacities who can beat the wrong-headed freaks like Hitler.

What we need, but what we distrust and hate and nearly always reject because we don't understand it, is genius. It was only when Britain rejected the typical men, the Baldwins and Chamberlains, and accepted a freak, the least typical Englishman of his time, that they began to win. It is only when it is democracy that is young and strong, that has steadily won its way against the grim tyrannies of the past—Appeal of Citizenship Educational Service to 30,000,000 affiliated members.

DOLLARS AS ALLIES

THE WINNIPEG TRIBUNE has written an editorial article which I would like to see circulated, not only throughout Canada, but through every friendly newspaper in the United States. It removes the worst of the misconceptions about the restrictions placed by our foreign exchange board.

The Tribune's article is in reply to a friendly letter from a business man in Minnesota who wrote, in part, as follows:

"While we fully recognize and appreciate that Canada is at war and is conserving all her resources to lend as much material aid as possible to England, many of us over here are not taking so kindly to the drastic restrictions the foreign exchange board is placing on Canadians. Canada is very anxious for us to visit within her borders. . . . At the same time Canada has done anything short of hostility in keeping her people out of the States, fearing she may lose a few dollars in this manner. . . ."

"Don't think for a moment that we are not with the Canadians 100 per cent in extending all aid possible to help win the war. We are . . ."

The tragic part about this letter is that it is probably typical of a widespread sentiment in the U.S.—felt but not expressed. At a time when those who feel themselves the "real Americans" are doing everything in their power to give more and more aid to Britain, short of outright war, Canada is imposing more and more restrictions on the sending of a single Canadian dollar to the U.S.

The real reason, of course, is not to decrease our purchases in the United States but to increase them. Every cent of cash or credit upon which we can get our hands, is being used for one purpose—to pay for the planes, tanks and other kinds of war material which we literally must have to continue the war against the gangster dictators. Far from trying to penalize business interests in the United States, we are trying to beg, borrow or almost steal every cent which we can get from our own people to buy more, not less, in the U.S.

HOW WE PAY

IN NORMAL TIMES the layman, including the ordinary business man, does not bother much about such things as exchange. It takes a war, or other abnormal occurrence, to remind all of us that

CONSCRIPTION;

A U.S. VIEW

From New York Daily News
Of course, the first year will be the hardest, if we adopt conscription. It will mean a fundamental change in our ways of thinking and acting, and there will be plenty of soul-wrenches as well as physical inconveniences as we get under way.

But after the first year things ought to go along smoothly. Every qualified young man will come to take it as a matter of course that he's expected to give a year or so to learning how to fight for his country. And we'll build up a reservoir of trained manpower, plus a powerful body of men under arms at all times, which will save us from future emergencies of the kind loosed upon us last May 10, when Hitler began his blitzkrieg.

If we let the pacifists, radicals, conscientious objectors and Fifth Columnists talk us out of adopting universal selective military training as a permanent United States policy, we'll be asking for the same stuff as Hitler has handed Poland, Denmark, Norway, Belgium, Holland and France.

HEALTHFUL FOR RECRUITS

From Cowichan Leader
With particular reference to war effort, this district has sent the majority of its enlisted men away for training elsewhere. Yet climate and situation could have made Duncan an ideal training centre. Years ago air base plans were discussed but the first step yet remains to be taken. Had there been a nucleus, the establishment of a training school here at this time might well have been a possibility.

This is a healthful district. The Agricultural Hall, hastily changed into a barracks, housed men last winter with the best record for health of any billet in M.D. 11. The district has considerable resources in manpower, with little facility for training. A substantial barracks building might well be constructed here and would be of useful service for the future.

democracy is willing to accept the best, something larger and nobler than itself, something utterly unlike itself, something bigger than Elwood, Ind., that it will be sure of surviving.

NO REFUGE FOR COWARDS?

From Le Jour, Montreal

A worthy priest, whose name, unfortunately, we cannot divulge, said to us: "I hope that all the large seminaries, congregations, communities and religious orders are relentlessly refusing entry into their sanctuaries of those youths who, without having any vocation, want to escape their national duty by donning the religious habit. This sanctuary should not be the refuge for cowards; this habit should not become the covering for deserters. The religious life requires courage, character, sacrifice, everything that these youths evidently lack that fear leads them to a false vocation. A religious should be without fear and above reproach. After the last war many unjustly accused the ecclesiastical world of having welcomed too great a number of fugitives. At all costs, history must not repeat itself, and I am convinced that those in authority will be very firm on this score."

We are happy to publish this opinion today. There is no doubt that the public, above all the mass of youths that the general mobilization will absorb for our home defence, would find certain favoritism unjust that was obtained by feigned vocations.

YOUTHS' TRIP ENDS ABRUPTLY

Hearkening to the call of the road, three Victoria youths left their homes on Saturday morning last at 1.30, unknown to their parents, on what was to be an extended trip, but which ended rather abruptly in Port Alberni early Tuesday morning.

The boys took to the Island Highway and by thumbing rides arrived in Nanaimo at noon of the same day. It was their intention to take the train barge to Vancouver the same evening, but they were a disappointed group when they found that their intended conveyance ran from Ladysmith and not Nanaimo.

However, the fact that their jaunt to the mainland was temporarily curtailed, did not dishearten the lads, as they turned to other fields of adventure, and by the same means they got to Nanaimo they finally arrived in Port Alberni on Monday afternoon, after a pleasant two-day sojourn in the coal city.

Here their escapade ended, as towards midnight on Monday the father of one of the boys, who had finally learned of their whereabouts, came to the west coast town, retrieved the wanderers and drove back to Victoria with them.

Princess Alice Visits Fair Incognito

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. H. M. Atkin, director of women's activities at the Canadian National Exhibition, said last night that Princess Alice, wife of the Governor-General of Canada, paid a surprise visit to the fair today.

Incognito and in company with Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, she visited the quilt exhibit in the women's building for nearly an hour.

LETTER RECEIVED FROM NAZI FRANCE

A letter that in time will become a rare curio, has been received by a Victoria lady from a friend who served in the French Army.

It was postmarked in Lyons, July 22, and came through directly to Victoria without the regular stamp, but with the mark of the French Army, passed by the commandant. It was opened by the French censor, but nothing in the letter was deleted. Lyons is in the occupied part of France, and how the letter was allowed to be sent to a British country is unknown here.

Victorians writing to German occupied parts of Europe have had their letters returned. The letter received today is believed to be the first from any European country under the Nazi heel.

The letter says little about conditions in occupied France, but it is interesting to know that I am interned in a little corner of France, near Lyons. As personal profit of this war I have received a Croix de Guerre and on the other hand lost all my ideals and illusions.

"I'm waiting to take off my military uniform to try and find work. But it is going to be difficult to earn one's living, and one can't be too particular about one's choice—as we are very numerous—those of us that have been ruined."

Powell River Plane

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—Contributed by residents of this British Columbia paper manufacturing town, an $8,000 Tiger Moth training plane will soon be among those being used at the Vancouver flying school under the Empire air training plan.

Nine motorists were fined $2.50 each for overparking, in City Police Court this morning. One was fined $5 for making a U-turn in a forbidden area.

Soroptimist Fete At 'Kah-na-way' Nets $450

Impetus was given to the war activities of the Soroptimist Club by the garden party, held yesterday afternoon in the delightful setting of "Kah-na-way," the Uplands, home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, the affair netting over $450 in material results, in addition to the less tangible, but much appreciated, pleasure of a large number of guests.

WAR EFFORT OUTLINED

Mrs. Reed Paige Clark, wife of the U.S. Consul, who was introduced by Miss Marjorie Holmes, the president, formally opened the garden party. She spoke of the international character of Soroptimism, of its valuable role in creating mutual understanding between the business women of various countries, and recapitulated the war effort, which included four ambulances presented to Great Britain last year, Canadian Soroptimists presented one, and the American Federation giving three. Miss Holmes also spoke briefly, thanking Mr. and Mrs. Mayhew for their generosity in opening their gardens for the fete.

Mrs. B. M. Clarke was general convener of the fete, and convener of stalls were as follows: Home-cooking, Miss Alma Russell and Mrs. Hamblett; cut-flowers, Mrs. H. I. Mallett; candy stall, Miss Ruth Whitehead, president, and other members of the Venture Club, Mrs. Lorna Taylor, Miss Marie Thomas and Miss Elsie Finlayson; pop and ice cream, Mrs. Alice Macaulay and Miss Hope Hodges.

Miss Marjorie Holmes, assisted by Misses Mary Worsley and Yvonne Lowden, had charge of the prize table, which contained the autographed copies of Rachel Field's two presentation books, "All This and Heaven, Too," and "Hettie, Her First Hundred Years," and a letter sent by the author to Mrs. T. W. Walker, which helped to swell the proceeds at "5 cents a peep."

TEA POPULAR

A delicious tea was served under the capable direction of Mrs. Fred Robertson, assisted by Miss Dora Atkins and a number of girls. The tea-tables were arranged under the trees on the west terrace, and each table was centred with a magnificent dahlia bloom, the decorations being in charge of the Venture Club. Mrs. Reed Paige Clark, Mrs. Mayhew and the patronesses, Dr. Olga Jardine, Mrs. W. Hobart Molson and Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, were at the president's table.

A number of games, arranged by Mrs. R. E. Greenslade, proved a popular feature. A roulette contest was run by Mrs. Milton and Tommy Clarke; C. V. Milton and P. A. Fitzsimmons had charge of the horse racing; P. Shrimpton and B. Knight had the bingo table; C. S. Henley, assisted by Mrs. H. F. Crowe and J. H. Fletcher, conducted the clock golf.

FLOWERS AUCTIONED

Fred McGregor acted as master of ceremonies, with the aid of a public address system, and later auctioned off the beautiful chrysanthemum and gladioli blooms exhibited by Mr. and Mrs. Melville Mayhew. Mrs. Alex Mayhew had another stand of fine flowers.

Miss Janet Henderson was an attractive "Lady of the 1,000 Pockets," and the Venture Club operated a darts contest, "Hit Hitler," was one of the Elks Club contests.

Parkdale Y.P.S.

The annual meeting of the Parkdale Young People's Society was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Wm. Craig, 400 Bolestone Road. It was decided to hold a picnic on Labor Day at Sunny Shores Camp, when all members are asked to be present. Later refreshments were served by the social committee.

Mrs. Hamber Gave Much Help to Institutes

VANCOUVER (CP)—The assistance given women's institutes in British Columbia by Mrs. E. W. Hamber, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor, was stressed at the provincial convention of the groups here yesterday by Mrs. V. S. McLachlan of Victoria.

Speaking to approximately 150 delegates to the three-day meeting, which opened yesterday, Mrs. McLachlan said Mrs. Hamber had aided individual institutes, awarded four scholarships for weaving at the University of British Columbia, made donations for used clothing in the Peace River and promoted traveling handicraft schools.

The convention was also addressed by Dr. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, who spoke at last night's banquet describing the potentialities of the province, he urged the women to take the responsibility for preparing for the period after the war. This must be accomplished by wholehearted co-operation, he said.

Other speakers included Jack Byers, Dominion government western livestock field manager; Dr. G. M. Shrum of the University of British Columbia; and Pat Field, chairman of the B.C. Products Bureau.

Today the meeting was again addressed by Dr. MacDonald, and members were guests at the Canada-Pacific Exhibition. Election of officers will take place tomorrow, when the convention closes.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor J. Lyle Telford of Vancouver today officially welcomed more than 125 delegates to the sixth biennial convention of the Provincial Women's Institutes of British Columbia in Hotel Vancouver.

During the day's sessions, delegates will appoint a nominating committee and after general routine business will hear the treasurer's report from Mrs. H. H. Pitts of Nelson, B.C.

Reports will also be heard from various committees and delegates will hear an address from Mrs. V. S. McLachlan, superintendent of the Women's Institutes.

Mobilization of Women's Institutes for war services will be discussed at a major topic during the three-day convention, an official of the group said.

Girls Eager to Write To Sailor 'Pen Pals'

TORONTO (CP)—Letters from 37 Toronto girls who want to write to British sailors were received today at the office of Mayor Ralph Day, a sequel to the mayor's announcement yesterday that he had received a letter from a group of midshipmen aboard H.M.S. Barham requesting "pen pals."

The sailors asked the mayor to find them girls in Toronto who would correspond and help make their days less "blue." One stenographer was kept busy all day sending sailors' names to the girls.

Must Keep Home Life on Even Keel

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canadian women must assume responsibility for maintaining home life throughout the Dominion on an even keel during the war, Mrs. H. McGregor of Penikese, B.C., said in her presidential address here today at the opening of the sixth biennial convention of Women's Institutes in British Columbia.

Mrs. McGregor, provincial president, told approximately 150 delegates from all parts of the province that although Women's Institutes have valuable war work to do, this is in addition to seeing that drama, the arts, and music are included in their home life. The 4,500 members in B.C. are at present working on knitting projects, refugee work, and canning, as part of their wartime project.

An outline of the work of the institutes was given by Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, Victoria superintendent. Mrs. MacLachlan said that the Women's Institutes provide health nurses to rural districts, operate 37 dental clinics, care for 900 children in the Vancouver Island Solarium, apart from constructive work within the home and community.

Financial report was made by Mrs. F. H. Pitts, Haisla, B.C., and Miss H. Leighton of Victoria reported upon the institutes' fund for crippled children within the province.

Delegates to the three-day convention were entertained at a luncheon given by the Vancouver Board of Trade, and will be addressed by Dr. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture.

The Overseas Nursing Sisters branch of the Canadian Legion will hold its monthly meeting on Saturday afternoon at 3 at Britannia branch headquarters.

The quarterly meeting of the teachers and officers of the Parkdale Sunday school will be held on Friday evening at 8, at the home of Mrs. William Craig, 400 Boleskin Road.

The Second Mile Club met at the home of Mrs. Phillips, 2595 Cook Street, Mrs. Fuggle, vice-president, in the chair. Mrs. Bishop led the devotional. Mrs. Brake was the guest speaker. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames Coles, Fuggle, Slater and Pearce.

Lake Hill Women's Institute met recently, with Mrs. A. S. Moffat, vice-president, in the chair. Mrs. Findlay was appointed delegate to the Women's Institute Provincial Conference now being held in Vancouver. Arrangements were made to hold the monthly meeting on Thursday, September 5, at 2.30 p.m., in the institute room. Tea was served by Mesdames L. S. Heather and W. B. Stockwood.

Says Social Justice Must Follow After War

CALGARY (CP)—Aim of the general government after the war must be for social justice, said Miss M. Louise Haskins of Banff, formerly of London, in addressing the triennial convention of the Canadian Federation of University Women's Clubs here last night.

Miss Haskins, who became famous overnight when the words of a poem she wrote some years ago were quoted by His Majesty in his New Year's radio address, said the character of the general government which will come after the war may be slow to emerge but its nucleus should appear in terms of the peace treaty.

It was the quality and spirit, not the shape, of the structure nor the form of the creed which needed most attention at present. The nature of the specific action would be slow to emerge, Miss Haskins said, but certain necessities of the post-war world could be forecast.

It was apparent, the speaker said, the aim of social justice was not the whole objective, but it was an integral part of the intent.

NO PRIVATE FORTUNES

The world would face after the war most of the conditions of the last war, but those conditions would be intensified. One of the most serious problems would be health. Miss Haskins said the best treatment should be available to all in every country.

Any remaining luxuries of life must be strictly curtailed as long as the vital needs of good health were unfulfilled. Housing projects would be part of the health scheme.

Great private fortunes would have a part in that post-war world, the speaker thought. That was one feature of the last post-war era which she felt would be absent. There would be unemployment, which must be met by a knowledge of industry, need for goods, and willingness to share work.

Mrs. W. J. Melrose of Edmonton, past president, presided at the dinner.

Labor Day Week-end Just Ahead

Labor Day week-end will bring the last long holiday of the summer season. The extra day offers everyone a chance to get out of doors and enjoy the early autumnal beauty of the countryside. September is always a lovely month on Vancouver Island. The green of trees and shrubs has taken on a bluish of richer color; the heat of the sun is tempered by an almost invisible bluish haze that floats lightly on the still air; flowers bloom, not in the well-controlled, perfectly kept manner of early summer, but in a rambling riot of color that mingles and intermingles in a haphazard pattern with a particular charm of its own.

At the auto camps and resorts along the highways and byways the rush of school holiday vacationists is over. From now on visitors will find a delightful atmosphere of ease and quietude. Special rates go into effect but the same high standard of service continues.

SAANICH PENINSULA

All worth considering for a day, a week-end or a longer holiday.

MILL BAY

Just on the other side of the Malahat. One hour's drive from Victoria. Good road. Bus service. A beautiful sweeping shoreline, giving the effect of a landlocked lake. Mount Baker looms far in the distance across the Saanich Arm. There is fishing and swimming and many other summer attractions. Good auto camp and guest house.

COWICHAN BAY

Again a landlocked bay surrounded by green, sloping hills. There is much of interest in this district both for those who love

French Plan, France Ignored, Secret of Nazi War Success

NEW YORK—Backward leadership, civilian panic, fifth column activities and lack of co-ordination with her allies are blamed for France's defeat by General Charles de Gaulle, leader of the French forces which are still carrying on the fight in defiance of Marshal Petain's orders.

In an interview with Quentin Reynolds, war correspondent of Collier's Weekly, General de Gaulle states:

"France lost the war for very definite reasons. These were: First of all our military system did not bother to develop any mechanized strength in the air and on the ground; second, the panic which gripped our civilian population at the advance of the German mechanized units; third, the tangible effect the fifth column had on the minds of many of our leaders, and fourth, lack of co-ordination between us and our allies."

General de Gaulle, who has long been an advocate of mechanized warfare but whose condemnation of the French policy of passive defence brought him nothing but a rebuke for impertinence, told Reynolds that there is still hope of victory.

"Germany can still be beaten, even now," he said. "But we must make use of the same weapons which she has used so successfully. Germany won with 6,000 tanks and 5,000 planes. She must be beaten by 20,000 tanks and 20,000 planes."

Reynolds reveals the ironic fact that it was the theories of General de Gaulle which helped to defeat the French army. In 1934 the general, then an obscure captain, published a book on mechanized warfare. This volume, "Vers l'Armee de Metier," received scant attention in France, but it became the bible of General Hans Guderian, who was then just beginning to organize the mechanized forces of the Reich, and who later utilized the tactics outlined by de Gaulle during the drive through France.

In discussing the European war as it affects and may affect the United States, General de Gaulle said:

"To date the war has taught us that we have a real military revolution. If I were an American I would take these lessons to heart. America must be ready at any time with the necessary weapons to meet a modern attack, with mechanized forces of air, land and sea. If I were an American I would take for my slogan, 'We should do our utmost to save liberty in this world by all means and at any cost.'"

'Pancake' Engine Designed for Plane

SAN DIEGO, Cal. (AP)—Development of a "pancake" type of airplane engine which its builder says can be mounted directly into the wing section for perfect streamlining was reported yesterday.

Its designer, J. L. Weaver, Consolidated Aircraft Corporation, said the engine could be manufactured for half the cost of motors now in use.

Weighing 115 pounds. It is a geared, air-cooled two-cycle, four-cylinder, horizontal opposed type. Two cylinders fire simultaneously from opposite ends of the five-inch crankshaft. The small length of the crankshaft, Weaver said, permits more rigid construction, and the firing order of the cylinders makes for what he terms ideal performance in dynamic balance.

The engine is designed to develop 100 horsepower at 3,600 revolutions at 30,000 feet and has an oiling system which requires neither oil pumps nor oil lines.

Weaver said the war department had indicated it would be interested after the engine had been installed in a plane for testing.

Until the recent discovery of Jupiter's 10th and 11th satellites, it held the satellite record jointly with Saturn.

A Woman's Viewpoint

By MRS. WALTER FERGUSON
THE INTELLIGENT wife of a successful engineer, after attending a convention with her husband, brought up what seemed to me a pertinent charge against this great custom when she said:

"I am always so disappointed when I go with Bill to these affairs. I am tremendously interested in engineering, but instead of being allowed to listen in on the discussions, I am compelled to go to the inane entertainments that we all feel must be given for visiting wives. We play bridge, we drink tea, we go to the country club."

"It seems to me we conduct ourselves in a particularly childish manner considering that we are married to men who are engaged in such marvelous enterprises. And our husbands get together and talk about fascinating things like building great bridges and dams, and harnessing water power and remaking the face of the earth."

"Oh, yes, I suppose you are thinking that I might walk out on the women and follow Bill to his meetings. And do you know what would be said about me if I did? I'd be man-crazy. Most of the women there would suspect I had designs on their husbands."

Although there may be a hint of exaggeration in this, it holds enough truth to be an unpleasant reminder that the intelligence of women suffers under too many handicaps.

We are shackled by other people's ideas of what we should and should not be interested in. The conformists are in the saddle, and to break away from them means that one must ride a lone trail.

It is beyond ordinary comprehension why wives should not be encouraged to learn something about their husband's business, since they are vitally concerned with its success or failure. And a clearer knowledge of the problems that engage the men would certainly not hurt marriage.

It's small wonder we are dumb, we women. Every force in society combines to prevent us from exercising our brains, even if we have any.

U.S. in War Soon, Says Noted Scout

A firm belief the United States would be in the war on the side of Great Britain soon was expressed by Major Frederick R. Burnham, D.S.O., Los Angeles, who gained renown as a scout for the British forces in the South African War, at a dinner held in his honor by the United Services Institution of Vancouver Island in the Empress Hotel last evening.

"I firmly believe we are going to trail you into the war," he said, "and when we do we will go in up to our necks until the finish."

His words were warmly applauded by 60 members of the institution and guests who gathered to hear the famous adventurer give reminiscences of his fighting days in South Africa.

Major Burnham is in Victoria for 10 days before returning to his home in California. He came here from Calgary, where he spoke to a meeting of South African War veterans.

KNEW CHURCHILL

Going back to his days in South Africa with the British, the 80-year-old scout proudly told of his acquaintance with Winston Churchill, now Prime Minister of England, who was then a young man full of ambition.

On a boat returning to England after the war, Churchill challenged the abilities of a committee of military officials who were in charge of entertainment for the troops on board. He won out over his superiors and one officer was heard to remark: "All H— would not stop Churchill from becoming Premier of England."

One time during the war a group of 240 Britishers were surrounded by 1,500 to 2,000 Boers, he related.

"We were in a bad spot," he said. "There were three rockets bombs left in our supplies and volunteers were called to sneak into the enemy lines during the night and set the bombs off in an attempt to scatter the natives."

Major Burnham and another scout were given the task, and they set off on two horses loaned by Charles Coventry, brother of Thomas Coventry of Victoria.

Two of the bombs went high in the air, sending off showers of stars and scaring the natives. The third went off at an angle, landing in a native village near by and setting houses on fire.

"There was a terrible commotion. Natives were stampeding in all directions. My partner and I, instead of returning to our force, stayed around taking shots at the fleeing enemy with our rifles. We had about 50 rounds of ammunition apiece. The natives fled for 15 miles and we all escaped."

BRITISH AMBUSH

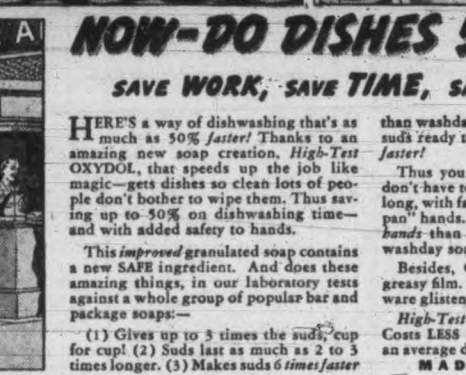

Major Burnham told another story of how he was sent out on a scouting party to locate a British company, which he discovered was ambushed by a few hundred Boers but only before it was too late.

In attempting to warn the British of the ambush he was captured by the Boers. He pretended to be lame and was placed in a wagon loaded with the wounded. After three days' traveling he slipped from the wagon and lay on the side of the road unnoticed by the weary Boer officers riding in the rear.

He lay in a ploughed field for a day with Boers all around him and at night managed to slip through the lines without being caught. "In three days," he was back with the British.

Major Burnham was personally thanked for his great services to the British by Queen Victoria and King Edward VII, who also accorded special permission for him to hold his rank of major in the British army without renouncing

Kinsmen's Fair Held at Nanaimo

NANAIMO — Nanaimo Kinsmen's Fair was opened yesterday by Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor.

Praising the Kinsmen for their efforts in initiating the fair, Mr. Pearson said: "They are resurrecting the old agricultural fair which was so helpful for many years here, until it was discontinued 20 years ago." He hoped it would continue to expand year after year to assist the development of agriculture and horticulture, so important in this area.

Mayor V. B. Harrison welcomed the visitors. President William Horman introduced Mrs. W. Griffith and Mrs. T. W. Martindale, judges of the women's section and domestic science, and Edward Whyte and Cecil Tice, judges of agriculture and artistic displays.

CEDAR TAKES CUP

Cedar district won the Kinsmen Cup for the finest exhibits, Don Wilson receiving the trophy on behalf of the residents of the district. Among the many outstanding booths were those operated by the Cedar Women's Institute and their youth training centre, and Native Daughters, Post No. 3, Nanaimo. Cedar women displayed a quilt of 8,000 patches, pieced by 88-year-old Mrs. Cassidy.

A pretty farmerette operated a spinning wheel made of apple boxes and driftwood, and explained the process of sock making from the shearing of the sheep to the finished product. She also demonstrated the method of extracting colored dyes from natural products, including berries and wood.

Native Daughters stole the show in displaying initialled crockery salvaged from the United States gunboat Saranac lost near Seymour Narrows in 1876. Indians had salvaged the crockery now owned by Mrs. Bert Horne of this city. They showed christening robes of the finest embroidery made 75 years ago, Paisley shawls 300 years old and a tea caddy dating back to 1840.

The fair continues today.

Common Sense About Constipation

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with any ailment is to get at its cause. If you're constipated, don't fiddle with makeshift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble!

Chances are you won't have to look very far if you eat just the things most people do. Most likely you don't get enough "bulk" in your diet. And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means the kind of food that isn't largely consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass which helps a bowel movement.

If this is your trouble, Kellogg's All-Bran, a ready-to-eat cereal, is probably just what you need to keep you "regular." It supplies the "bulk" you need, plus the intestinal tonic vitamin B₁.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars." Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada. Sold by every grocer in two convenient sizes.

Members of Joint U.S.-Canada Defence Board Which Assembled in Ottawa for Historic Conference

Before plunging into the business of their meeting U.S. representatives paid a courtesy call on Prime Minister King, who then accompanied them to the meeting room. Here Mr. King and New York's Mayor LaGuardia, head of the U.S. delegation, informally discuss defence matters en route. "We know what we want and where to get it," Mr. LaGuardia declared, "and we won't leave here until we do."

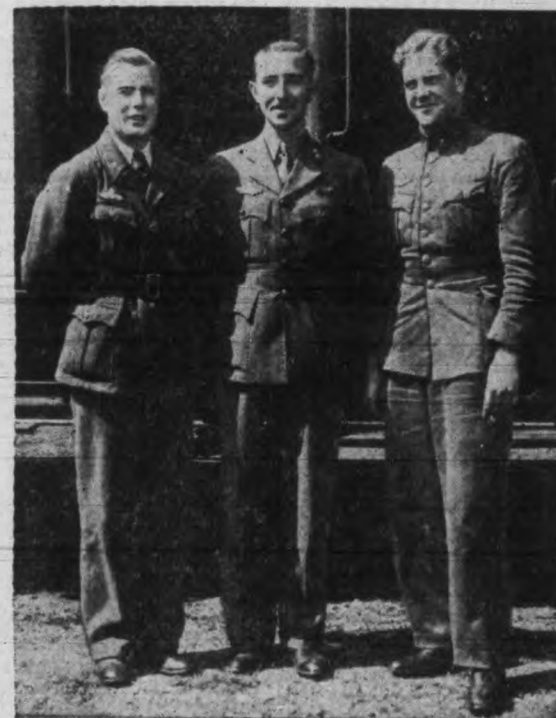

Mayor LaGuardia is welcomed to Ottawa by Rear-Admiral Percy W. Nelles, chief of the Canadian naval staff.

Service members of the defence board carried bulky dispatch cases into the meeting, and over the closely-guarded conference table the military secrets of two nations were frankly discussed. Here are the Canadian service members: Air Commodore A. A. L. Cuffe, Capt. L. W. Murray of the naval staff, and Brig. Kenneth Stuart, deputy chief of the general staff.

Meeting in strict secrecy, with guards patrolling the corridors of the Parliament Buildings, the defence committee sat overtime and got through more than the scheduled business. Pictured here are the committee members with other officials. Seated: Lieut.-Gen. S. D. Embrick, U.S. army; Col. O. M. Biggar, Canadian chairman; Hon. J. P. Moffatt, U.S. minister to Canada; Prime Minister King; Fiorello LaGuardia, U.S. chairman; Hon. J. L. Ralston, Canadian Minister of Defence; Capt. H. W. Hill, U.S. navy. Standing: Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, Canadian secretary; J. D. Hickerson, U.S. secretary; Brig. Kenneth Stuart, Capt. L. W. Murray, Commander F. P. Sherman, U.S. navy; Air Commodore A. A. L. Cuffe, Lieut.-Col. J. T. McNarney, U.S. army air corps, and Major J. S. Gullet, air attache U.S. legation. The conference adjourned on Tuesday night and the service members are now engaged working out details of the joint plan of defence.

The group expects to take delivery of modern fast fighting craft ordered by their government from the United States. Left to right are Lieutenants Per Waalen, Jean Hansen and Morton Ree.

Snowy-white beds from the Royal Jubilee Hospital have been placed on Victoria's business streets to draw the public's attention to the drive which the hospital is staging for funds to complete its new $100,000 wing. MODERN WAR TACTICS—Residents living near Hightstown, New Jersey, may soon think they have been invaded by a platoon of Adolf Hitler's parachute troops. They will be regular army men in Uncle Sam's defence forces, however. As the army moved to give its soldiers more thorough training in parachute jumping, Hightstown became the centre of activity for the leapers. This unusual picture was made when the first Doughboy made his jump.

Italian submarines are easy prey, according to British navy men in eastern waters. Here is one which was captured by a Royal navy destroyer (right) in the Gulf of Aden, after the Italian craft had been forced to the surface by the British trawler Moonstone, which dropped depth charges. The submarine Galileo Galilei is being taken in tow with a British crew aboard. Submarines submerged in the clear waters of the Mediterranean are easily visible to R.A.F. pilots, who are able either to bomb them or direct surface craft to the scene. Italy's navy has large numbers of undersens vessels, but their usefulness to date has been strictly limited.

Tillicums In Lead Again

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

THE STORY of Carvel William Rowell is an unusual one. Alabam Rowell of the Boston Nationals threatens to be the first recruit in the 40-year history of modern baseball to lead one of the major leagues in batting. He is at present leading the league with a mark of .329. This despite the fact that he does half of his swinging in the toughest park for hitters in the majors, and hit no more than .297 in the Eastern League last season.

Rowell is a bad-ball hitter, and his explanation of his new position is as fantastic as his meteoric rise.

"I guess I'm looking at much better pitching," he says. "In the minors you see so many bad balls you start chasing them. Up here you get so many good ones you can't help hitting!"

As a second baseman with Dayton, a Brooklyn branch, in 1938, Rowell established a record for errors in the Mid-Atlantic League... 32 in 114 games.

It was then that illegal manipulation of his contract was detected by Judge Bramham, and the president of the National Association ruled the deal from the deep south a free agent.

Rowell was so impressive at the time that the Bees gave him all of $1,000 to sign.

It was because of his poor fielding with Dayton that Bob Quinn, head of the Hive, instructed his Hartford farm manager to employ Rowell in the outfield, and it was as a flycatcher that he reported to the Bees last September.

Yet Rowell now is a double play second baseman reminiscent of the great Rogers Hornsby. Experts say at times his glove still appears to be stiff on ground balls, but he is gradually eliminating his one fault.

Rowell was so miserable at bat last spring that Charles Dillon Stengel was on the verge of returning him to the minors, but the Bees needed money, and the manager suspected they would get some of it by selling Tony Cuccinello to the New York Giants.

It was for this reason that Stengel started the 24-year-old Rowell at second base. When the club was losing, Rowell was a nine-inning man. When it was winning going into the late innings, Stengel yanked the Citronelle Cloutier as a defensive measure and substituted Rabbit Warstler.

Until he went into his present streak, which swept him past Harry Danning of the Giants to the top, players called Rowell a banjo hitter... said he got most of his hits off the handle and would slip. He quickened his pace instead... is currently hovering around .330.

Tillicum Athletics baseballers gained a stranglehold on the Rithet Cup city championship series last night when they went out in front by defeating Pitzer and Nex nine, 5 to 1, in the fifth game of the best-of-seven series. The clubs will meet again tomorrow night and, unless last year's champion gashouse gang check in with a win the 1940 honors go to the Athletics. But the greenshirts are a team full of surprises and fans would not be at all surprised to see them shrug off their present sluggishness and crash the victory column to tie things up again. If a seventh game is necessary it will be played Labor Day at 10:30 at Athletic Park.

After four frames of last night's game the teams went into a slump, losing some of the snappy form they showed in the series' earlier games. Gasmen had a particularly bad evening. At the right time they never seemed to be able to do the right thing.

While Tillicums only succeeded in po ng out four safeties, they had plenty of speed on the base routes which coupled with wobbly fielding on the part of gasmen, enabled them to run up five markers. This was the biggest score of the series.

THREE FOR CANN

Lloyd Cann, Athletics, heaven, was cheated of a three-straight shutout record in playoff competition last night when gasmen managed to nose a runner through in the last frame. Cann's teammates booted a couple of chances to retire the side in the last frame with the result one runner was squeezed through. The Athletics' ace pitcher only yielded four safe blows and struck out nine.

Pitzer and Nex used two heaves to try and halt Athletics. Lorne Murray opened on the hillcock in a surprise move. He only stayed two and one-third innings, but in that time two hits, five walks and four runs were collected. He was accorded poor support. Duff Waddell went in as relief hurler. He did a good job, giving up two hits and one run in three and two-third innings. He breezed one batter.

Athletics did most of their scoring in the third frame, three runs. They bagged single tallies in the second and fifth.

Noel Morgan of gasmen and Art Chapman of Athletics had the best batting records for the evening. Both hit safely twice in three trips, one of Morgan's being a two-bagger.

Texas Pilot Praises Dean

DALLAS, Texas (AP)—Mild Roy Johnson—the man who patiently molded a new Dizzy Dean—trembled a bit yesterday when he heard that the righthander had been recalled by Chicago Cubs.

"It's swell," breathed Johnson, manager of the Tulsa Oilers. "Dean won't disappoint them. He is ready to go back—a changed boy, still a fine pitcher."

"Today Dean is more than 50 per cent better than when he came back to the Texas League. Condition, perfect physical condition, has done it. He's trim, hard and far under the weight at which he reported to the Cubs back in the spring."

"He throws with naturalness now—none of that sidearm stuff you read about in the papers. His motion is smooth: the look of pain that crossed his face only a season ago is gone now. Never does he complain about his arm."

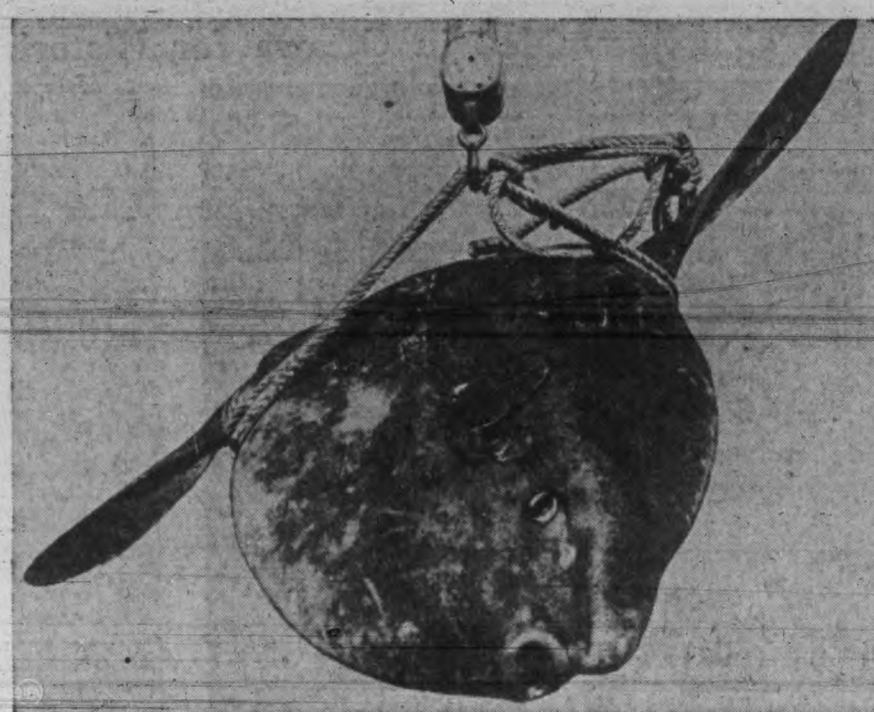

"The fellow's attitude is magnificent. He's the hardest working man on our club... He's worked hard with our kid pitchers. He wants to be in the game constantly. Why, he's our best influence. When he gets knocked out of the box he hurries into the dressing room, changes clothes, gets right back to the bench and yells his lungs out for some kid who has replaced him on the mound."

"Why he's got three or four more years. He doesn't need his old speed—he's a cunning son-of-a-gun out there now."

KIWANIS CLUB TO STAGE AQUACADE

The Kiwanis Club will stage an aquacade at the Crystal Garden on the night of September 5 in aid of the Sergeants' Mess of the R.C.A.F. at Patricia Bay, club officials announced today.

The entire top floor of the garden has been donated for the presentation of the event. The program calls for water events, dancing and a midway show. It will open at 7 and conclude at 11. Billy Tickle's orchestra will be on hand to provide dance music from 9:30 to 1 and the R.C.A.F. band will contribute selections during the evening.

Baseball

Sox Are Surprise

The only thing missing when Jimmy (Do It With Mirrors) Dykes opened his new bowling and soda emporium in Philadelphia the other night was for the International Society of Magicians to step up and present him with an engraved card as an honorary member.

If ever a fellow rated it for reaching into hats and pulling out all sorts of surprises, to the red-faced confusion of most of the American League's first division, Jimmy is the lad.

He's been doing it for years, too, out there with his Chicago White Sox. Right now, he's winding up his sixth full season as boss of the Sox, and he stands a good chance to finish in the first division for the fourth time. He's only a game away as a result of his 3 to 2 victory over the Boston Red Sox yesterday in the only American League game to get by the rain.

Over in the National League, the pennant race became a seven-team affair yesterday, to the surprise of no one. The Phillies, who never had a chance anyway, dropped both ends of a double-header to some excellent elbowing by Pittsburgh pitchers Truett Sewell and Joe Bowman, and were eliminated mathematically from the flag chase. Sewell tossed a three-hitter in the opener for a 5 to 0 win, and Bowman came back with a six-hitter for a 5 to 2 decision.

The New York Giants climbed back into a tie for third place by trouncing the St. Louis Cardinals, 5 to 2, largely on homers by Jojo Moore and Tony Cuccinello. Dick Erickson's steady twirling gave the Boston Bees an 8 to 3 edge over the Chicago Cubs, dropping the Cubs into sixth place. The loop's two pacesetters, Cincinnati and Brooklyn, were rained out.

COAST LEAGUE
 The Coast League did not lack for standout pitching last night, even though its brightest star, Kewpie Dick Barrett of Seattle, came a cropper in trying for his 23rd victory.

Instead Barrett took his fifth defeat, 6 to 4, at the hands of San Diego, and the pitching job of the night, if not the season, was turned in at Portland, where obscure George Munger of Sacramento gave just one hit to beat the Beavers 7 to 0.

Los Angeles made it two straight over Oakland, 3 to 1, and took a game and a half lead over the Oaks in their tussle for second place.

Hollywood massacred seventh-place San Francisco, 19 to 3, collecting 20 hits off Larry Guy and two Seal youngsters, Hub Kittle and Bob Jensen. All the Stars hit safely except pitcher Rugger Arizola, who goes to the New York Yankees next spring.

Fuelmen Upset V.L.A. Outfit

Hartnett Fuel of B company pulled a surprise last night when they defeated Victoria Longshoremen of A company in the second game of the best-of-three series for the city softball championship. A four-run attack in the last inning gave fuelmen a 10 to 8 win.

Morry Hornsby opened on the mound for Longshoremen. He was hit plenty hard, being nicked for five runs. Ralph Bonner replaced him and held the fuelmen in check until the last of the fifth. In that frame Bonner was got to heavily and four runners scored.

Longshoremen did most of their damage in third inning, sending six runners over the sacks.

Tonight at Athletic Park Longshoremen and Brundsons meet in the final for the Calvert Cup. Game starts at 6. These same teams fought to a 4 to 4 draw in their Poodle Dog Cafe Cup Tuesday night. Another keen battle is expected.

Duck Crop Is Reported Good

NEW YORK (AP)—If the ducks had more knowledge they'd protest, but being ducks they probably don't even see the injustice in the fact that because there are about 25 per cent more of them this year the hunters are going to get about 33 per cent more time to shoot them in the United States.

"The biggest crop in 10 years," is the way Ray Benson, executive secretary of Ducks Unlimited, views the outlook ahead of the time birds are due from Canada. "Last year there were about 65,000,000. This year we expect upwards of 80,000,000, despite the fact that for a time early in the year the outlook was bad."

"There wasn't any snow in parts of the Canadian breeding areas until mid-February, and that territory relies on melting snow to fill the potholes and sloughs."

"Ducks are funny. They don't read the weather reports, so they don't know there might not be enough water to carry them through. They just plunked down on their favorite breeding grounds and hoped for the best."

"As luck would have it, in June the rains came in abnormal quantity, and the same was true in July. That break, combined with the fact that our campaign against crows and magpies, which raid the nests, has shown results, has assured a bumper crop."

Wilkie Sold To Pittsburgh

SEATTLE (AP)—Aldon Wilkie, the slender Seattle southpaw, has been sold to the Pittsburgh Pirates. The blond left-hander, who was fired by the San Francisco Seals this spring and caught on with the Rainiers as a free agent, will report to the National League team next spring.

Jack Lelivelt, who engineered the deal from the Seattle end, refused yesterday to reveal the purchase price, saying that cash and one player would be turned over to the Rainiers.

The Seattle skipper added that the player to come to the Rainiers will not be named until later.

Wilkie won nine straight games for the Rainiers before losing, and then turned in three more victories. He failed to finish his last two starting games and lost last time out as a relief pitcher.

He now has a record of 12 victories, three defeats. He has an earned run average of 2.14.

Veteran Stars Quit

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian football champions, Winnipeg Blue Bombers, open the new season this week without their greatest offensive and defensive stars, but with a remodelled team so strong in reserves that coach Reg Threlfall has every hope they will win a fourth consecutive western title.

Bombers have lost seven members of the team that beat Ottawa Rough Riders 8 to 7 in the Dominion final last December. Fritz Hanson, fleet halfback whose sensational dashes were highlights of the Winnipeg Grey Cup victory at Hamilton in 1935 and at Ottawa, said yesterday he will not change his decision to retire.

Hanson, former North Dakota State College star, was the club's most dangerous running half-back. Martin (Butch) Gainer, 25-year-old former University of Dakota back who was the key man in Bombers' secondary defense, has returned to the United States.

Flashes Form To Defeat Youngsters

HERSHEY, Pa.—Clubhouse talk here centred around that grand old man of golf, Walter Hagen. Yesterday "The Hag" surprised even his keenest supporters by knocking off a couple of youngsters as the Professional Golfers' Association championship went through the first two 18-hole rounds of match play.

Most pleased about the whole thing was Hagen. After carrying about 99 per cent of yesterday's gallery, Walt was worrying just what pep-up he could take to match the youthful Harold (Jug) McSpaden in a 36-hole match today.

Yesterday Hagen turned back Gil Sellers, Hot Springs, Ark., 1 up and Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N.J., 2 and 1.

Gene Sarazen, one of Hagen's oldest and dearest rivals, still was in there pitching too, after opening victories over Stan Stazowski of Winsted, Conn., 4 and 3, and Ray Mangrum, 2 and 1. The squire now holds a record of 43 P.G.A. triumphs and Hagen is second with 40.

The colorful old adversaries could meet in the semifinals, though Sarazen faces the considerable job of trying to lick Henry Picard, the defending champion, in one of today's eight matches.

Yesterday's play ran remarkably true to form, considering the "sudden death" nature of 18-hole matches. Of the 48 players defeated during another day of rain, the only real big shots were Jimmy Demaret and Craig Wood.

DEMARET OFF GAME

Demaret, the year's second biggest money winner, was beaten by Eddie Kirk, a comparative unknown from Framington, Mich., 2 and 1, in a second-round match. Kirk never before qualified for P.G.A. match play. Demaret was sadly off his game, and he doesn't like match play, anyway.

Wood, the Mamaroneck veteran who holds records for reaching the finals of championships but never winning them, bowed in the second round to Jim Foulis of Hinsdale, Ill., on the 19th hole. Byron Nelson, who fought it out with Picard in last year's P.G.A. final, had a narrow scrape when he had to go 20 holes to eliminate the veteran Frank Walsh of Rumson, N.J. Nelson, 1939 open champion, was two down through the 11th hole and finally caught Walsh only by shooting a birdie on the 17th.

Dick Metz of Chicago, the medalist, continued to shoot the most brilliant golf of the meeting as he beat John Thoren of Auburndam, Mass., 3 and 2, and Ky Laffoon of Chicago by the same score. For 68 holes up to this point Metz was 12 strokes under par over a long, waterlogged course.

GODIVA IS DEAD

DUBLIN (CP)—Godiva, three-year-old filly which won the new One Thousand Guineas and new Oaks in English racing this year, has died in Eire. Godiva, the best filly of her age in training in England this season, was by Hyperion out of Carpet Slipper.

Richmond Ties Up Boxla Final

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—Thirteen may be an unlucky number, but who is it unlucky for? That's the question occupying Richmond Farmers and New Westminster Adanacs, each of which has won two games in the Inter-city Box Lacrosse League semifinals by that score.

Last night Farmers downed the Canadian champions 13 to 10 in the fourth game of the series. Adanacs won the second game 13 to 8 and the third 13 to 10, while Richmond copped the opener 7 to 8.

The final game will be played here tomorrow. Winners play Vancouver Burrards for the league title beginning September 3 at Vancouver. Inter-city League titlists then play for the provincial finals and the Kilmarnock Cup, against the champions of the West Kootenay League.

Richmond raced into an 8 to 5 lead in the opening quarter last night when they capitalized on minor penalties handed to Adanacs. They scored four goals while the champions were short-handed.

Setting up a stone wall defence the Farmers stayed in front, and at half-time were ahead 10 to 8. Both goalies—Ed Johnson in the Adanac net and Herb Delmonico for Richmond—turned in superb performances.

New U.S. Bases For San Juan Id.

Further strengthening of the Pacific Sound and B.C. coast defence system is envisioned as part of the joint defence survey between Canada and the United States.

In an interview in Vancouver yesterday Norman M. Little, U.S. assistant attorney-general, said no scheme for the defence of the Pacific coast would be complete without the co-operation of British Columbia.

He said co-ordination of United States defences along the coast with those of British Columbia, particularly in the use of air bases by both countries, was a question likely to be discussed shortly by the two governments.

San Juan and other U.S. islands in the straits will be equipped soon as air and naval bases, Mr. Little said.

Fortifications extending from San Diego north, including establishments at Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, San Francisco, and Los Angeles, as well as Alaska.

He said it was obvious that U.S. airplanes patrolling the coastline from Washington to Alaska could make good use of B.C. air bases.

Mr. Little, who is in charge of the lands division of the Department of Justice for the U.S., said sites for air and naval bases and troop centres were being acquired "almost as quickly as Hitler himself could do it."

Fortification of the San Juan group, according to military men, would add an important link to the strategic defences of the straits and the gulf. Forts and bases on the Canadian side are designed to protect the area against invading ships and San Juan holds a strategic position in the system.

Soldiers Unaware Of 'Blessed Events'
LONDON (CP)—Some Canadian soldiers who have had "additions" since they left for service overseas are unaware of the blessed events because cables carrying the tidings were incorrectly addressed.

Haunted by the vision of expectant fathers wearing paths outside the unit post offices, officials of Canadian military headquarters here, are striving to straighten out the tangle.

There are a number of other misaddressed cables. It is possible some of these soldiers are serving elsewhere than in the United Kingdom.

It is pointed out cables for members of the Canadian Active Service force overseas should be addressed to "Canrecord, London."

Observatory Road Will Be Closed

Closing of the road to the Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain to the public will be discussed at a meeting of the Tourist Trade Committee of the Chamber of Commerce early next week.

The committee has been advised by the Department of Public Works that from September 1 until further notice the road will be closed to traffic other than government business.

Officials of the tourist trade group feel that the move will injure the tourist industry.

A meeting of the membership committee of the Y.M.C.A. will be held tomorrow evening at 5 in the association building to discuss plans for the fall season.

LAVAGETTO HAS RUSH OPERATION
CINCINNATI (AP)—Surgeons took a gangrenous appendix from Harry Cookie, Lavagetto today and the Brooklyn Dodgers' third baseman will be lost to the team for the remainder of the season.

Lavagetto, who has been an important cog in the runner-up Dodgers' drive to wrest first place from the champion Cincinnati Reds, retired last night apparently in good health. His illness climaxed a long run of hard luck that has beset the Dodgers this year.

Mrs. William Overall put on her Salvation Army bonnet in her home on Epworth Circle, Niagara Falls, and went to be presented to the Governor-General and Princess Alice. Her son gave his life on blackout patrol over a Yorkshire village nine months ago, when his Spitfire crashed in flames against a tiny home. While the presentation was taking place, two British children in Toronto said they narrowly escaped death when the plane plunged into their home, that their mother wrote in sympathy to the pilot's mother, and that Mrs. Overall wrote back insisting the children be sent to her for safety. They are Maureen and Tony Hughes. Above, left to right, are: Mrs. Overall, Maureen and Tony Hughes and H. E. Overall.

Movie Reunion In City Today

There was a Hollywood reunion in Victoria today.

Victor Fleming, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer producer, who came here with Spencer Tracy in July, strode into the Empress rotunda this morning and met F. L. Hendrickson, M.G.M. contract man, who flew north in his private Fairchild, and Benjamin D. Sharpe, associated with Fitzpatrick Travel Talks.

Fleming said he had just come to Victoria from Lawrence Baker's Gooch Island, near Sidney, where he has been resting for several weeks.

"Spencer Tracy is now at Colorado Springs, but he may be back here within a week," said Fleming. "He is sold on Victoria and Vancouver Island."

Sharpe, who produced a travel picture in this city for James Fitzpatrick several years ago, has been visiting him on Hill Island, not far from Gooch in the Sidney group, which Fitzpatrick recently purchased.

Sharpe is returning to Hill Island with his wife and plans to remain there for the winter, writing his memoirs.

Hendrickson is paying his first visit to Victoria and he declares it is the most beautiful spot he has ever seen.

"I would have brought my plane here, but I thought there might be some difficulty in entering and clearing, so I left it at Seattle," he said.

He piloted the three-seater Fairchild from Los Angeles to Seattle with his wife beside him.

All M.G.M. contracts for players, script writers and others have to be OK'd by Hendrickson.

M.G.M. studios has from 600 to 800 people under contract and spends $50,000,000 annually, Hendrickson said.

Sunday Flower Sale Questioned

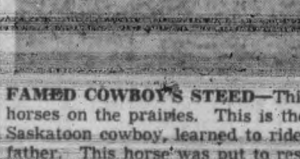

Complaint against the Sunday sales of cut flowers is contained in a letter from N. B. Pollock of Pollock Bros., florists, filed at the City Hall this morning. The letter was in reply to the answer to an original request from Mr. Pollock for a ruling on Sunday sales. He was supplied with a copy of the city by-laws covering the subject.

"We see flowers sold openly in many stores every Sunday from early morning until 10 at night," Mr. Pollock wrote. The blooms were openly displayed on sidewalk walks in front of the stores, he said.

The city representatives suggested the concerts be held in the armories during the winter months to serve as a means of entertainment and diversion for the local troops. Brig. Stockwell promised consideration of the suggestion.

Sarazen Beats Henry Picard

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Gene Sarazen knocked down a six-dot putt on the 36th green today to defeat Henry Picard, the defending champion, 1 up, in their round match of the P.G.A. championship. Sarazen shot a 68 on his final round, five under par.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden eliminated the grand old warrior, Walt Hagen, 1 up on the 36th hole, when the Haig's putt for a birdie from about 15 feet rimmed the hole.

McSpaden's winning margin was represented by a hole that Hagen literally threw away. On the 31st Hagen was strolling nonchalantly along swinging his club and accidentally touched McSpaden's ball. Hagen promptly called his opponent's attention to it and awarded him the hole.

McSpaden's opponent tomorrow will be Paul Runyan, who swamped Ed Dudley 4 and 3. Sarazen will meet Sam Snead, who beat Jimmy Hines 7 and 6. Byron Nelson eliminated the tournament medalist, Dick Metz, 2 and 1.

Eddie Kirk of Framingham, Mich., ousted Art Clark of Uniontown, Pa., 5 and 4, and qualified to play Nelson in another quarter final.

Ben Hogan, the year's biggest money winner, stayed in the running with a 5 and 4 victory over Al Broesch of Farmingdale, N.Y. Ralph Guilan completed the quarter final bracket with a 5 and 3 triumph over Jim Foulis of Hinsdale, Ill., and will engage Hogan in a 36-hole battle tomorrow.

Great Send-off For Petrol Boys

"It'll be over soon. We're on our way."

"Hya, Bill. I'll order a shave when I get back."

"Come and say good-bye to me, dearie. It's your last chance for a while."

This was the spirit in which the Petrol Company, R.C.A.S.C., largely composed of Victorians, left for an eastern training centre.

Headed by their own bugle band the company marched aboard the boat to the accompaniment of cheers from the crowd at the dock and the last-minute farewell of loved ones.

Down Government Street and across the Causeway wives and sweethearts walked with their men. It was the biggest send-off any troops have had since early in the war.

Crowds lined both sides of Government Street to see them go by. The men tramped all the way from barracks without a break and their faces streamed with perspiration when they reached the dock. They were dressed in serge battle dress and full marching kit with rifles. But there was scarcely a face not smiling.

The men were lined up on Belleville Street for the farewells and broke ranks for a few minutes. The street was jammed with men in khaki and their friends, babes in arms and youngsters of all ages were among them to say good-bye to "dad."

Then they formed up and marched down the dock, through the freight sheds and onto the boat. They swarmed up on the foredeck of their transport. Men climbed the guy wires of the ship, waved their forage caps, cheering and shouting.

Among the interested crowd were a number of United States tourists in the Empress Hotel. When word went through the lobby the boys were coming they rushed to the causeway amid great excitement.

Balkans Hear Axis Demands

VIENNA (AP)—Hungarian and Rumanian delegations brought to this capital of old Austria by axis "peace-makers" communicated the suggestions of Rome and Berlin for a Transylvanian settlement to their governments today after separate two-hour talks with the German and Italian foreign ministers.

German spokesmen said: "From various signs it can be presumed that, perhaps tomorrow, concluding results will be reached."

The Hungarians, Premier Paul Teleki and Foreign Minister Istvan Cskay, and the Rumanians, Foreign Minister Mihail Manolescu, and his aides, had not yet come together to discuss any proposed new frontier. They held separate talks with Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, the German and Italian foreign ministers.

(Rumania is not represented at the conferences).

Sooke Watershed Closed to Hunters

Game Department officials today issued a statement to deny the rumor that the Sooke Lake watershed proper will be a legal hunting or fishing area this fall.

"The Sooke Lake watershed proper is still closed to trespassing as always. Also 100 yards on each side of the pipeline from Sooke Lake to the Humpback Reservoir is a closed area," officials said.

Dr. Kindie was widely known among historical geologists in Canada and the United States. He was a fellow of several international scientific societies, author of about 175 papers of geological topics, and in 1933 was president of the Paleontological Society of America. He was born in Indiana.

SMITHS FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Dr. Margaret O'Hara, 85, former Canadian Presbyterian medical missionary to India and one of the first women to graduate in medicine at Queen's University, died yesterday. She was author of the book "Leaves of the Lotus."

HERRING ASSUMES NEW IMPORTANCE

Canning of herring has now assumed the proportion of an important industry in British Columbia. The Department of Fisheries noted in its annual report for 1939, made public today.

The increase is a direct result of the outbreak of hostilities in Europe, the report says.

Before last year the herring pack averaged between 25,000 and 30,000 cases a year. In 1939 it amounted to 418,021 cases.

This resulted from a demand for cheap protein food because of the war and the large pack was disposed of readily.

Development of a tuna fishery off the coast is also noted in the report. While there were only 721 cases reported in 1939, this was not all because full reports were not required by operators. Experiments conducted off the west coast show that in some years at least tuna fishing can be profitable.

In total amount the value of B.C. fisheries fell off last year from $18,672,750 to $17,698,980. There was a decrease from $14,491,285 to $12,994,812 in the salmon pack and the whaling operations were suspended. Pilchards, usually worth around $800,000, did not appear close to the coast.

CANADIAN BEAUTIES FOR HOLLYWOOD—Selected as Canada's loveliest from photographs of more than 200 beauty contest winners throughout the Dominion, Ruby O'Donnell, left, and Rose Burckett board their train for the prize trip to Hollywood. QUEEN VICTORIA'S LIFE ON SCREEN

Queen Victoria had the longest life and reign of any English sovereign. Autocratic, insistent on her rights in an increasingly democratic age, she became the world's most venerated monarch, the exemplar of an age of wealth, domesticity and success, the key-stone of her own kingdom, the cynosure of others.

Intimate episodes of her career were lavishly produced in "Sixty Glorious Years," produced in Technicolor by Herbert Wilcox, co-starring Anna Neagle, with Anton Walbrook as Prince Albert, now at the Cadet Theatre.

'PRAIRIE LAW' SHOWING AT RIO

A daring scheme to seize control of an entire western community by a swindler, provides the stirring theme of George O'Brien's current outdoor vehicle, "Prairie Law," now at the Rio Theatre.

Most of the thrilling action transpires in a little western town, established by a get-rich-quick promoter to sell worthless lots to susceptible nesters. The cattlemen in the section resent the migration of the farmers, who ruin the rangeland, steal the ranchers' cattle and monopolize their water holes.

'AWFUL TRUTH' OAK BAY SHOW

See "The Awful Truth" at the Oak Bay Theatre starting today, with Irene Dunne and Cary Grant in the co-starring roles. Really, Irene's a dream and Cary's a scream in the wildest romance ever seen on the screen! It's the maddest, merriest scramble of wives, ex-wives, mates and mis-mates that ever turned the screen into a delirium of howling laughter!

PLAZA HOLDS 'THE FUGITIVE'

Brian Desmond Hurst, screen director, owes his start to an impromptu job as a Hollywood stunt man. Hurst, who directed Ralph Richardson and Diana Wynyard in the unusual new Universal release, "The Fugitive," now playing at the Plaza Theatre, began his career as a property man in Hollywood some years ago.

Capitol Books Midnight Show

"The Boys from Syracuse" will be the special show at the Capitol Theatre on Sunday midnight.

A half-dozen stellar comics and several converted "straight" players inject all-round comedy into Mayfair Productions' film version of the farce, with ancient Greek background, based on the Broadway success of the same title.

Top-line players include Allan Jones, Irene Hervey and Rosemary Lane, all successful in so-called "straight" roles and all now essaying a new type of comedy. Irrespressible Martha Raye contributes lusty antics to the film and as a contrast, Joe Penner is present to portray a wistful, under-pup type of human punching bag.

Also important in the cast is the ace pantomimist, Charles Butterworth, whose "dead-pan" is his fortune. Alan Mowbray and Eric Blore are on hand.

Where to Go Tonight

Gertrude Is Gay Advertising Widow

The golf widow is familiar in fiction, but the advertising widow has never made her debut on the stage until Samson Raphaelson, ad-exvertising man wrote "Skylark" and created one of the most interesting roles ever played by Gertrude Lawrence, distinguished English star to be seen at the Royal Theatre on Saturday evening.

As Lydia Kenyon in "Skylark," Miss Lawrence is the lovable wife of a rising young agency executive. Bent on getting to the top, he gives so much of himself to the advertising business that Mrs. Kenyon often feels that he is being untrue to her with a "layout." She yearns for the early years of their marriage when he was poor and companionable, and resents his turning their home into a glorified conference room for clenching deals with millionaire clients. Finally—24 hours after meeting a fascinating lawyer—she walks out on her husband. Not, however, with the lawyer.

How he is ultimately saved from the advertising business, and how Lydia finds she is just as much married to it as he is, are brought out in a generally gay and amusing comedy.

Plaza Books Fine Comedy "It's in the Air," starring George Formby, one of England's leading comedians, will open at the Plaza Theatre on Monday.

There are a number of the latest hit tunes in the picture, including "Our Sergeant Major," with its mirth-provoking words. The theme song of the film is a rousing, cheerful number with the same title as the picture, "It's in the Air." This is sung by George Formby, with members of the Air Force joining in.

Gypsies of the World

4—FORTUNE TELLERS

Half a century before Columbus sailed to the New World, a German named Muenster set down words with this meaning:

"At Heidelberg I talked with several of these people (gypsies). They claimed to have letters from emperors and princes. I saw one of the letters, from Emperor Sigismund.

Gypsy family preparing meal at roadside in England.

"The letter said that the ancestors of these people had lived in Egypt, and had given up the Christian faith to become pagans again. When they went back to Christianity, they were given a penance which made them wander for seven years. Their children also had to wander in like manner.

"Now their penance has expired, but they still wander about. They still lie and steal and tell fortunes."

There is no proof that the wandering of the gypsies started in that way. As I have said, it seems clear that their early homeland was India. Some went to India, others to Turkey, Egypt, Greece and other countries.

Gypsies usually took on the religion of the countries they visited. Some turned Mohammedans, others became Christians. A great number in the Balkan countries and in Spain are Catholics. In certain other countries there are many gypsy Protestants.

The telling of fortunes has been one of the chief ways gypsies have made their living. Gypsy women claim to have skill in this field.

A gypsy "crosses the palm with silver" soon after she starts to tell a fortune. This means she obtains a silver coin from the person who is before her, and passes it across his palm.

Sometimes a gypsy tells a man or woman "facts" which seem to prove great knowledge. In their travels, gypsies have learned much about the working of human nature, and they may guess things about love affairs, travels and money.

It would be a mistake to think that all gypsies steal. There are thieves among them, but most gypsy fortune tellers seem content with the quarter or half dollar paid to them for their words about good or ill fortune.

HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, AUGUST 30

This is a fortunate day in planetary direction for persons who utilize the morning hours. Foresight should be keen and judgment trustworthy. It is a lucky date for starting any new project.

The stars smile today on the women who are willing to subordinate their wishes to the needs of the hour. It is a date favorable to welfare work. Housewives should prepare for winter emergencies. Conservation of food is a duty for all, whether they be rich or poor. The need of giving generously to relief organizations of all sorts will be pressing. Good news affecting the family is indicated.

Both aviation and naval development are under good directions of the stars. Machinery will focus attention of merchants and manufacturers as novel inventions are introduced. Builders and contractors will profit through the construction of dwellings. This may mean expansion of accommodations for aviators, soldiers and sailors as well as housing for private use.

Persons whose birthdate it has the augury of a year of good fortune, although there will be heavy expenses. Unanticipated windfalls may be expected by women.

Children born on this day probably will be intuitive, magnetic and original. These Virgo folk love travel and change.

POSTMASTERS' WAR GIFT

Hon. William E. Mulock, Postmaster-General, announces that a cheque for $100 has been received from the Quebec Branch, Canadian Postmasters' Association, to be devoted towards Canada's war efforts. It was stipulated that the money should be contributed to the Department of National Defence.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I have a big problem on my hands. I am 25, teaching school in a small town and desperately in love with a girl. But my salary is less than $100 a month. I don't feel that I could support a wife on that, but she insists on our going ahead and getting married regardless of how little I make. She has two more years to go to college. Shall I wait two years for her to finish college and take a chance on her feeling the same as she does now? Or shall I risk getting married right away? We are just two kids very much in love and I don't know what to do.

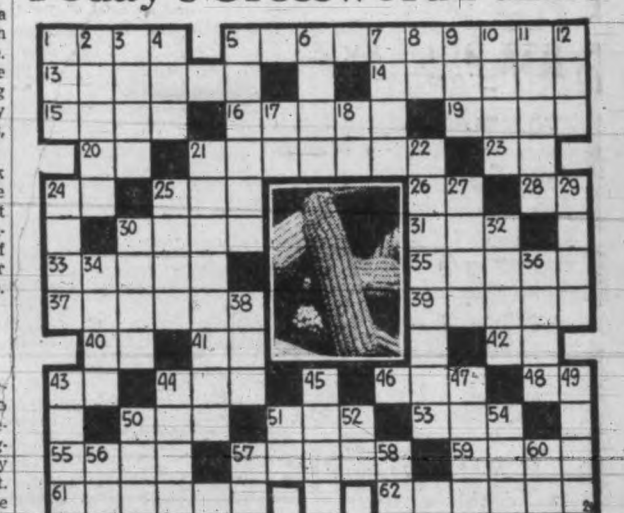

COWARD.

Answer: If you are 25 years old you are not a kid. You are a man and should, at least, have enough knowledge of life to know that marriage doesn't end a man's expenses. It increases them, and that by no possible financing can you support a wife and send her to college on less than $100 a month.

It is all very well to say, "All for love and the world well lost," but it doesn't work out that way in real life. When you are hungry and cold and harassed by debts loves won't seem as important to you as enough money to live upon decently. And you won't whisper love vows to each other then. You will quarrel over which one is responsible for the scrape in which you are in.

Don't let any girl rush you into a marriage for which you are not prepared. If she was the right sort of girl she wouldn't do it. DOROTHY DIX.

Two Only—1940 New Studebaker Champion Cars

There can be just two owners of the last two Studebaker Champions now in our showrooms. One is a coach and the other is a sedan . . . but the purchaser of either of these cars can credit himself with a very substantial saving . . .

The fact is that buyers of incoming cars will be called upon to pay considerably higher prices. Why wait? Why not make sure of one of these brand new cars at the lowest price you may see for a long time to come? A telephone call for a demonstration will register you ahead of those who call. Remember, there are only two of these cars and it will pay you to make an early call.

Production Nears Record High Scale

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadian industry, under the stimulus of the expanding war effort, is rapidly being geared up to the highest scale of production in history, the Bank of Montreal reported today in its monthly business summary.

General business is "naturally" profiting from the consequent enlargement of the national income and purchasing power," the report added. The construction industry has been given a great impetus by the building of new munitions plants and establishments for the commonwealth air training scheme.

Some lines of manufacturing were reported to be experiencing the usual seasonal recession, but the primary iron and steel industries remain busy. Firms engaged in production of machinery, castings, forgings and sheet metal products are all working almost at full capacity.

With an enormous demand for military clothing and footwear, the textile and shoe industries are busy. Aircraft factories and shipbuilding yards were reported to be working overtime, while the mining and newspaper industries enjoy great activity.

Winning Mark Wins Four-mile Marathon

CHICAGO (AP)—Washington Park's four-mile marathon, the longest horse race run here in 70 years, was won yesterday by Woodcock and King's Winning Mark in 8 minutes and 7 25 seconds on a heavy track.

Second in the long grind was Mrs. E. D. Jacob's Wicket, which just beat the "only other horse" to finish, Mrs. L. Copenhaver's Tristram. Five started but S. L. Burch's Flat Lance fell after about two miles and English Harry pulled up. English Harry set the early pace, with Winning Mark running third during the first two miles. Then the Woodcock and King router moved into command and at the finish had an 80-length lead over Wicket.

The winner paid $7.20, $3.40 and $2.60. The four-mile record is 7:10, set 28 years ago at Churchill Downs.

"Kellogg's rate FIRST for flavour."

"It is by my judgment of fine shades of flavour," writes Rolland Riendeau, Coffee Blender for London House Coffee, "that I earn my living. So I was interested to enter this blindfold taste test of the four brands of corn flakes. I didn't know one sample from another except by number. It was easy, however, to decide that the sample I later identified as Kellogg's, rated first for flavour!"

The family's choice across Canada! Last year impartial investigators asked 2000 housewives from coast-to-coast, this question: "What is your family's favourite ready-to-eat cereal?" No. 6 company of the Canadian Forestry Corps was on its way "somewhere" today after two months of intensive infantry training at Otter Point.

Hard, bronzed men from the woods they were who embarked yesterday afternoon, every man a specialist in his line, fallers, buckers, sawyers, filers, cat drivers and mechanics.

At the send-off on the wharf they got a special tribute from Major A. E. Parlow, the company commander, who has been in charge of their training.

The major said he had never seen such an enthusiastic group of men. They know their specialist jobs and drill at Otter Point was confined to the army's infantry training.

So keen have they been that some would go out on the parade ground after supper at nights to drill themselves.

The men arrived at the wharf in bus loads and formed up on the dock. Ranks were broken by wives, mothers and sweethearts saying good-bye.

They came from Victoria, Alberni, Nanaimo, Ladysmith and several of the other logging centres of the island.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Peppless Many Suffer Low blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The alarming thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did—even look healthy and strong, yet you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, doped, tired and peepless. Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today.
